Sir Bedivere, symbol of Knights' honor and loyalty, regally stands guard in the front hall.

Days of the Knights

Beginning before dawn on tracks, platforms, and stages, dedicated performers make perfect their art.
Threading their way through halls teeming and electric,
scholars find their niche
in stimulating classes.
Loving, learning, living, in a frenetic world apart,
youths search for wisdom to formulate bright plans for the future.
Laughing, crying, striving for excellence in all attempted, yet somehow never failing to fill with wonder the "days of the Knights."

Knights Become World Travelers; Delegates Trek to Summer Classes

"We had a ball!" was the stock answer of the estimated 100 Northwest students and teachers who agreed that going to Europe was the "in" thing last summer.

Three official school delegations, a foreign exchange student, and numerous individuals journeyed to all parts of the globe.

Two groups attended school. Mrs. Dorit Hall, German teacher, and Mrs. Carolyn Wakely, counselor, took 17 students to Austria for a six-week institute, and Mrs. Katherine Dunagin sponsored five students for seminar study in London.

They reported trips to Paris to the opera, and encounters with celebrities, such as Rock Hudson, Lee Remick, and Princess Grace of Monte Carlo.

Outdoor cafes, bicycles in Amsterdam, German castles on the Rhine, and good looking Italian teenagers most impressed the students who went with Mr. Dennis Simpson on a whirlwind three-week tour of eight countries.

By wearing a sari and not eating meat, Margaret Owen, Northwest's American Field Service representative, conformed to the customs of India during her stay there last summer with the Rajamani Sarma family.

Romantic adventures in Madrid, Granada, and Moroco were summer fare for Jennifer Jacobson and Judy Glass. They saw bullfights and explored castles.

PARTY GUESTS bid bon voyage to Mr. Dennis Simpson (standing poolside) and his nine students who are set to tour Europe.

PRESIDENT HUSSAIN of India greets AFS'er Margaret Owen at a tea for exchange students in his New Delhi presidential palace.

"AT LAST—a good old American hamburger." Margaret relishes her first taste of meat after her return from India, where meat is forbidden for religious reasons.

Knights Carefully Chart Year's Full Course

Realizing that an impressive beginning sets the stage for a successful school year, Knights initiated planning sessions during the summer months.

Student Council committees met, Shield staff reporters gathered news for a traditional first-day newspaper, and Knights and Ladies welcomed freshmen and new students at the "Howdy" mixer the first Friday night of the school year.

As the year got underway, students pursued their interests in a variety of areas. Events and places were important according to individual preferences.

The cafeteria, halls, gym, patio, stadium, auditorium, and classrooms were places where never-to-be-forgotten events occurred.

The prom, plays, grade cards, pep rallies, mixers, games, and club meetings provided spice for daily routine.

Fees, activity tickets, pep club dues, and publication packets quickly depleted students' allowances, while social life had to be curtailed as studies quickly demanded time and attention.

Word came the last part of September that nine Northwest seniors had qualified as National Merit Scholars. Three seniors won National English Council Awards.

Spirit was never better as the football team launched a spectacular season. It looked as if this year would indeed be the "Year of the Knights."

September 23 was Fair Day, the first school holiday of the year and Knights flocked to the Fairgrounds.

By the end of September Knightland had settled into its familiar patterns of life—full of wonderful, exciting experiences for the freshmen and a bit of nostalgic contemplation by upperclassmen.

Homecoming Galas Highlight Fall Term

Traditional events marked the 1968 Homecoming at Northwest.

Always a special occasion is the coronation of the All-Sports Queen at the assembly preceding the football game and annual dance.

Key Club members sold purple and gold mums all week, while French clubbers marketed stadium cushions decorated with the Knights' emblem.

"Knights are on top in state" was the theme of the senior float which was displayed in the caravan during halftime at the Shawnee game November 1.

Imaginative spirit signs and decorations filled the rooms and halls of Knightland before each game, and cars in the parking lot were uniquely decorated.

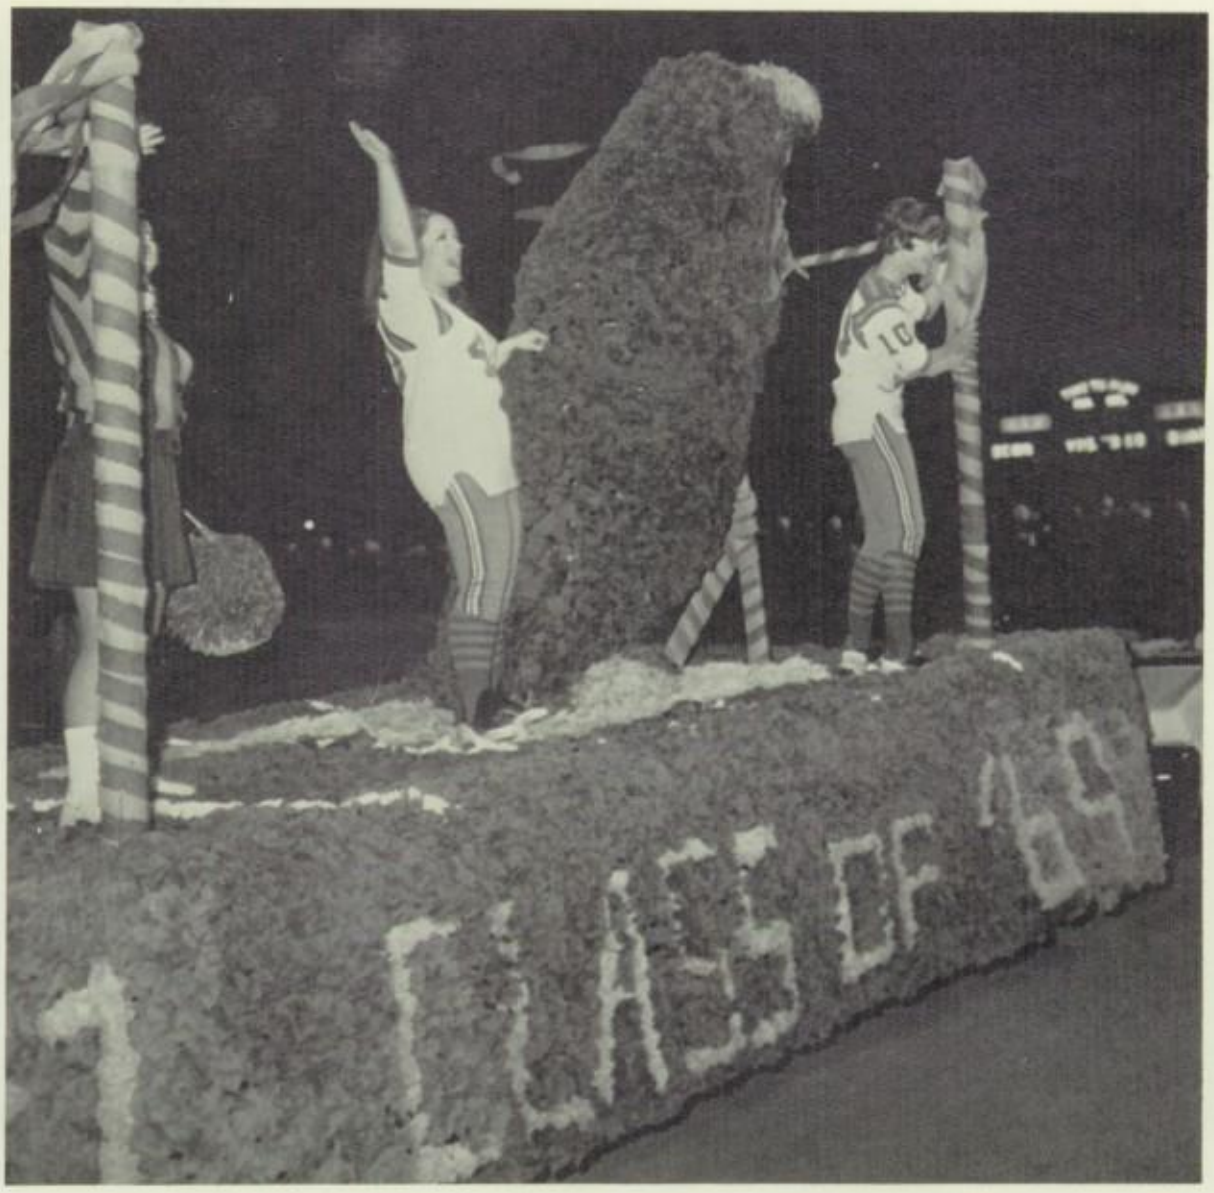
During Spirit Week preceding the Midwest City game, prizes were awarded in a contest for decorated cars and advisory rooms.

Section members Benny Byers and John Cheatham, also basketball stars, won the car prize; Mrs. Clara Luper's advisory claimed top honors for its inside decorations, while Miss Elizabeth Urmston's advisory won in the outside division.

DRESSED UP and ready to go are crown bearers for the coronation, Coy Havenstrite and Bob Finley.

RADIANT All-Sports Queen, Nancy Steph, greets the crowd during half-time festivities at Homecoming.

PRIZE WINNING advisory decorations are admired by proud artists, Patty Hughes and Christine Cochran.



FEATURE ATTRACTION at the Homecoming ceremonies is the senior float, labeled "Knights are on top in state," manned by Janie Medford, Becky Harley, and Lynette Martin, chairmen of the float committee.

ADDING SPICE to half-time activities is the presentation of the All-Sports Royalty: Mindy McCarty, Terry Green, Nancy Steph, Nancy Anold, and Cindy Brown.

"ACTION, lights, curtain!" Chuck Varnell, stage manager, gets set for Act One lighting cues.

PRECISE MEASUREMENTS are needed as wardrobe mistress, Becky Slade (seated) and her committee, consisting of Linda Dye, Margaret Easterday, and Donna Lane, design costumes for the "Skin" cast.

FAMILY DISCUSSIONS between the children (Mike Cowherd and Patty Tuel) and Mrs. Antrobus (Cheryl Wilson) aren't complete without the pet Dinosaur, played by Denise Moses, and Mammoth, by Kay Long.

"COME to my cabana," says Janet Hermann. Doug Humphrey and Robyn Birdwell approve.

Actors Score Hit with 'Skin of Our Teeth'

Curtain calls and the roar of applause at the close of "The Skin of Our Teeth," first production of the year, made all the strenuous weeks of rehearsal fade into happy memories for drama students.

"Skin," as it affectionately became known to the cast and crew, was presented November 15-16 under the direction of Mrs. Betty Hall Allred and technical adviser, Mr. Ted Nichols.

Written by Thornton Wilder, "The Skin of Our Teeth" deals with the indestructible Antrobus family who has survived fire, flood, and many depressions by the skin of their teeth.

The cast included Janet Herrmann as Lily Sabina, Doug Humphrey as George Antrobus, and Cheryl Wilson, portraying Mrs. Antrobus.

In the roles of the children were Patty Tuel and Mike Coward as Gladys and Henry Antrobus. John Morozuk was the announcer, and Robyn Birdwell played the role of the Gypsy. Denise Moses and Kay Long appeared as the family pets.

Minutes before the rise of the curtain, Sabina goes over her lines with Student Director Diane La Faver as Cindy Harvey, Costume Chairman, checks Sabina's hemline one final time.

"COME AS YOU ARE," Coronet pep club officers are told as they are hauled from warm beds at 6 a.m. for a Christmas breakfast hosted by their sponsors. Susan Long, Dena Green, and Lynn Self join in the fun Saturday morning, December 14.

"OH, what a big box!" Roxanne Robertson sneaks a peak as boy friend Bill Clark tries to hide her Christmas present before they go out on a date. Steadies spend time selecting the perfect gifts for each other.

JOINING MILLIONS of television viewers throughout the country, seniors Nancy Rice and Jeff Cohen watch the review of President Richard M. Nixon's inauguration the night of Monday, January 20th.

GAIL SIMMONS and Bill Fleetwood, Hi-Y prexy, buy a tree for children of Hi-Y's "adopted" family.

Climax of Incredible Year: Christmas 1968!

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without void . . . These words from the Astronauts in Apollo 8 made Christmas Eve 1968 a historical moment Americans will never forget.

Astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell, and William Anders circled the moon ten times and filled their countrymen with pride and awe, not only for their miraculous feat, but because of their personal sense of grace and humility.

A few weeks later President Richard Nixon was inaugurated and Knights, who had closely followed the national campaign, watched the proceedings on TV.

But there was much sadness and cause for concern in our nation and world during the tempestuous months of '68.

Two distinguished Americans were gunned down by assassins, and there was endless theorizing as to why these expressions of savagery mar our society.

Dr. Martin Luther King's murder in April was followed by looting and violence in 125 smoking cities. In June Robert Kennedy's death found Americans suffering through the torturous ordeal of going to Arlington again.

The Pueblo was seized and the crewmen abused before their release a year later. Vietnam peace talks in Paris kept bogging down, and there was bad trouble in the Mideast.

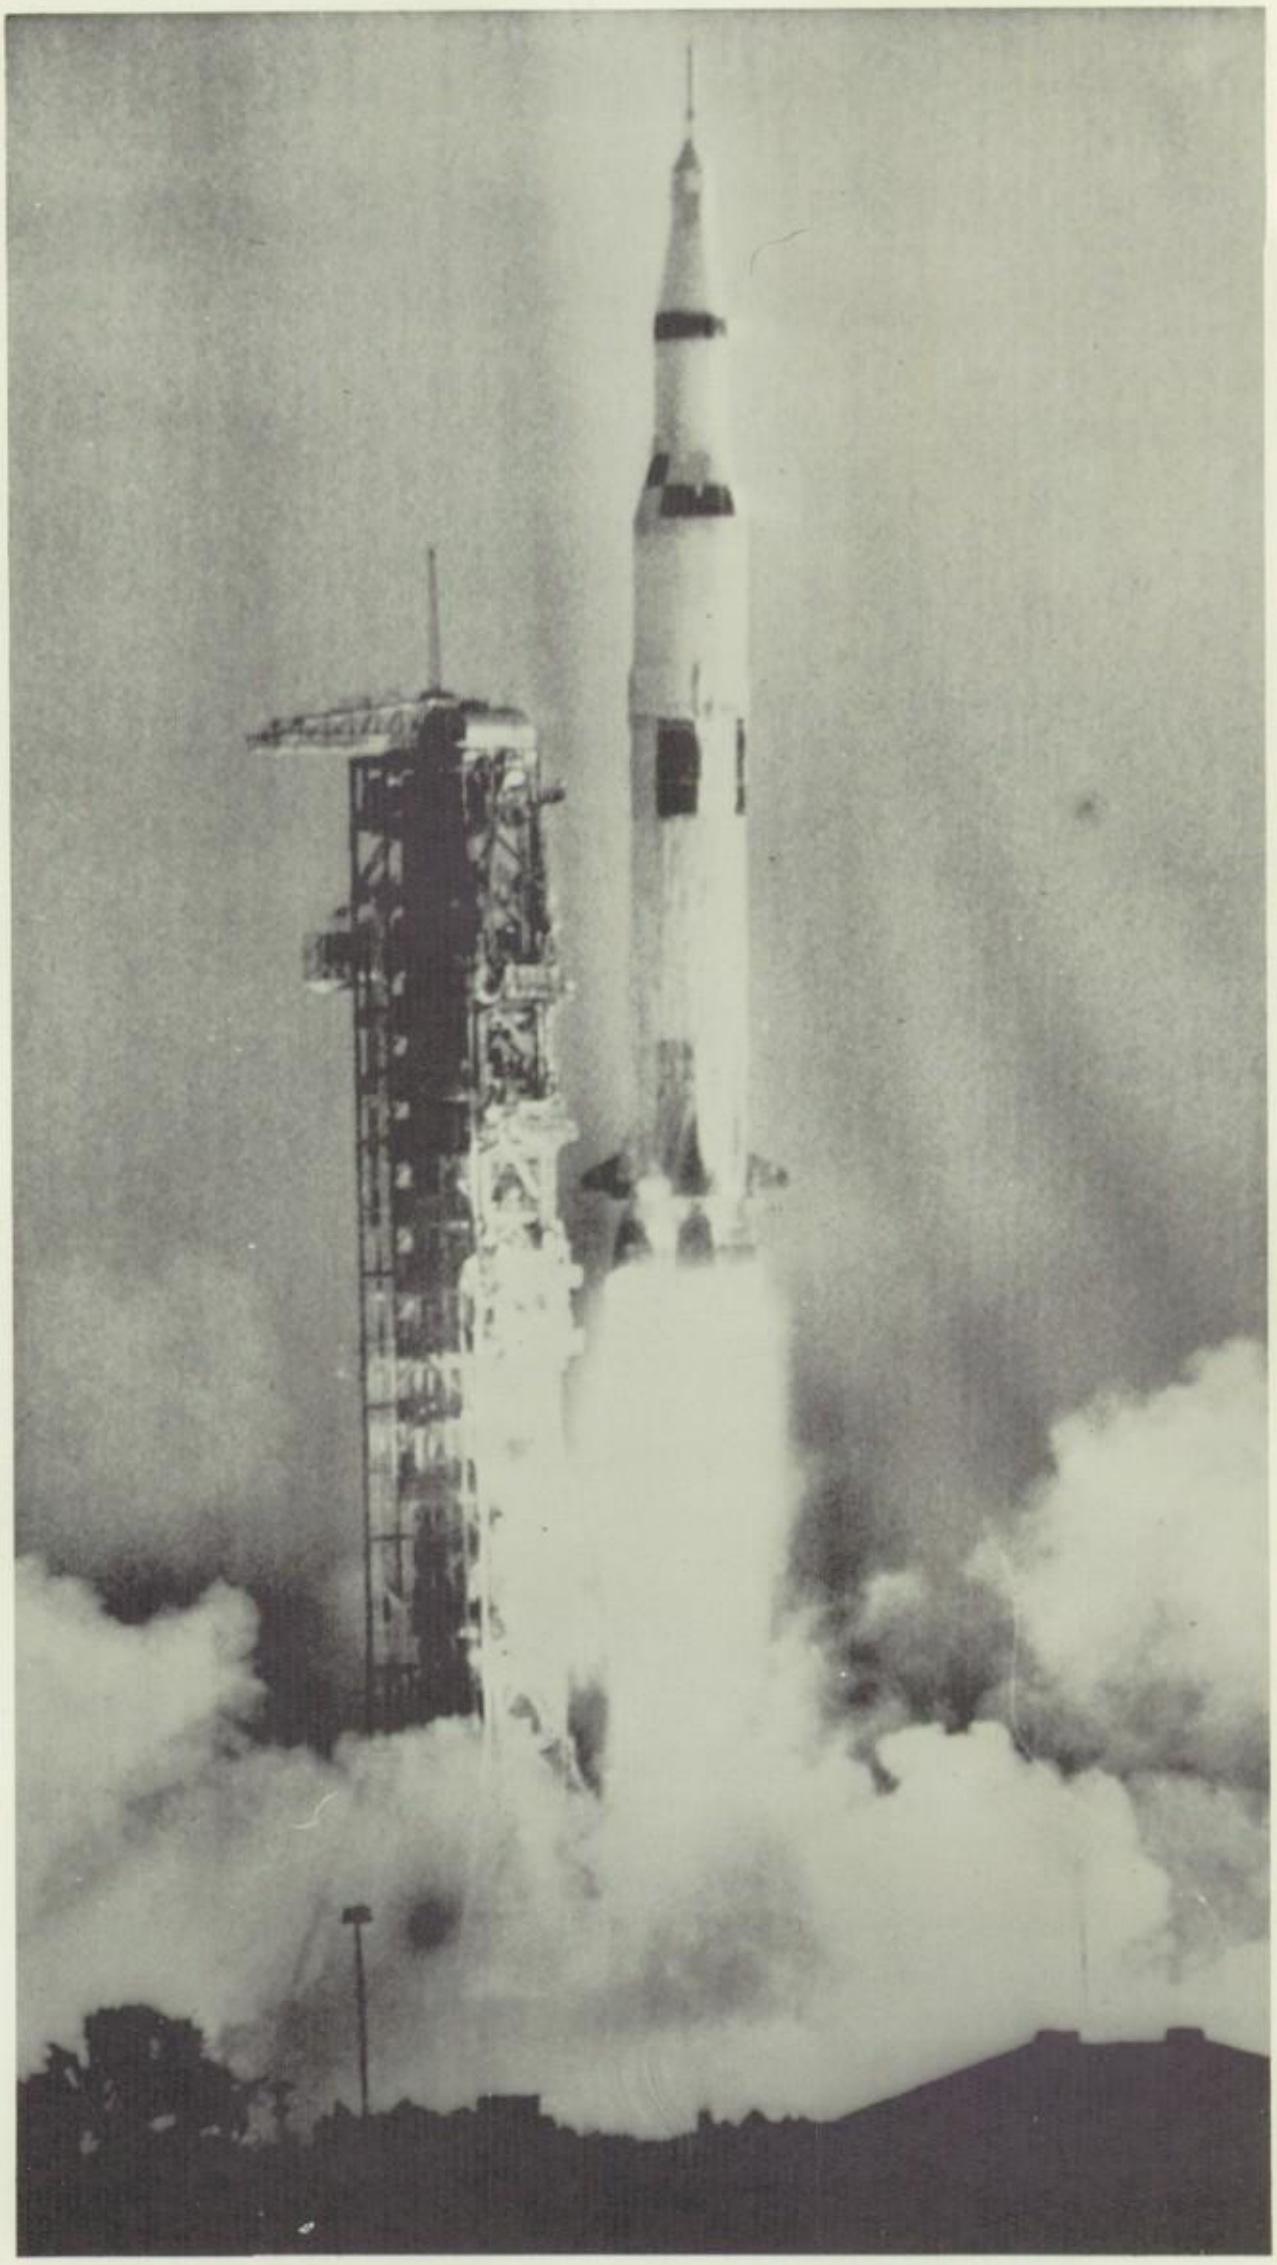
Some writers called 1968 a year when everybody had to be heard, a year when the hippies, yippies, leftists, rightists, and blacks rocked the nation from one end to the other.

But there was a brighter side to this incredible year. Heart transplants meant there are people alive today who would have died without them.

And the observation of Christmas in Knightland would have restored the faith of even the most skeptical, who claim the true meaning of Christmas is no longer recognized in this unsettled world.

All forty-nine clubs and organizations chose service projects. Hi-Y boys collected enough food to provide for a month the needy family they had adopted.

So, the warm glow of Christmas spirit shone in Knightland, and its grateful inhabitants were blessed with the good feeling that comes from the unselfish giving of oneself to others.



AS THE 363-foot-high Saturn V rocket lifted Apollo 8 into the sky, Americans, spellbound in front of TV sets, held their breath and prayed for the safety of the astronauts and success for the mission.

Spontaneous Backers Add Vim to Victory,

"Togetherness" was a strength displayed in every facet of life in Knightland.

Sharing in the variety of interests, troubles, hopes, and dreams of some 3,050 classmates was a rewarding part of attending Northwest.

Whether it be sparking spirit for champion teams, participating in service projects, presenting programs, banquets and dances, Knights felt they were part of something significant—more than "just a school."

Support for all athletic events was provided by the Booster Club, composed of 275 school patrons. Members followed Knight teams, sponsored boys attending Fellowship of Christian Athlete camp, and hosted coffee and donuts for parents after games.

Boosters and cheerleaders were a part of the colorful kaleidoscope of people and events that kept the school in motion from dawn to dark.

KNIGHTLAND'S top pep producers are All-School Cheerleaders Barbie Lippert, Jackie Lamb, Linda Choate, Nancy Steph, Cleda Hulett, Nancy Arnold, and Cheryl McDonald. All are seniors except Barbie and Cheryl.

NEGRO HERITAGE WEEK takes on new meaning for Charles Pierce as he listens to guest speaker Senator E. Melvin Porter talk to an Oklahoma History Class.

Knights Spin Amid Whirl of 'Happenings'

Always on the go—creating, verbalizing, socializing—Knights moved ahead with new projects while perpetuating school traditions.

For the first time Negro Heritage Week was observed at Northwest. Guest speakers drew capacity audiences in the Little Theatre each day.

Dramatists romped through enchanted forests created by stagecraft students in the final school production, Midsummer Night's Dream, a Shakespearean fantasy. Two performances were given February 28 and March 1 in the auditorium.

Student Council hosted representatives from 19 different schools on Inter-City Student Council Visitation Day. Also three students from Wichita, Kansas, attended Northwest one week in a Council exchange program.

Cupid boosted Council's treasury and promoted romance on the annual Cupid Express Day. Messages were delivered at the end of class periods.

In February when first semester grades came out, tradition was upheld when more girls than boys rated straight A's. This was the twelfth consecutive semester girls have dominated the top grade list and the National Honor Society.

Preparation for the final whirl of class events began early in the year. Senior committees met to lay plans for graduation events, juniors gathered in officers' homes to make prom decorations, and underclassmen preenrolled for next year.

"WHEN THOU dost wake, I'll charm thine eyes ..." Titania (Cindy Harvey) casts a spell upon sleeping Hermia and Helena, portrayed by Diane LaFaver and Anita Parrish, in Midsummer Night's Dream. The March 1 production was the drama department's last play of the year.

CUPID'S MESSENGER, Beverly Schultz, finds her job of delivering Cupid Expresses to Knights a big assignment for February 14.

NO TOUR of Northwest is complete without seeing Sir Bedivere, Student Council hostess Linda Windham explains to visitors Clay Hoster, from Grant, and Cindy Elston of Western Heights.

"CONGRATULATIONS, Mr. President!" New Council prexy, Scott Rayburn, and Craig Humphreys are greeted by Billy Clark, Scott's campaign manager.

TRUE SPIRIT of the Old West is revived by Steve Balliet and Sherry Bachhofer on Western Day when they celebrate 89'ers Day at Frontier City.

PATROLLING the halls during lunch is no small task, decides Mr. Chuck Ledbetter, as he bars Charlie Riddle from the second floor.

"ONLY TWO more laps to go for our mile!" Finding that jogging, in addition to its health benefits, is a new kind of family adventure, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Finley (center), David Boggs, Toni and Gary Finley with airedale terrier in tow, take a turn around the school track on an early Saturday morning.

Activities Accelerate as Term Jogs to End

Every group was keyed to the final round of activities: Dog Patch, annual turn-about-week, Student Council elections, Western Day, honor group initiations, and athletic achievements.

Feelings were sad, warm, anxious as friendships and school traditions took on added significance during the last busy, eventful weeks of school.

One of the year's popular health fads, jogging, swept the nation, and people in Northwest's community joined in the fun. The school track was utilized by Knights and their families.

An Asian flu epidemic resulted in a record number of absentees, 735 students, and 19 teachers, Monday February 17. Office telephone switchboard operators were overwhelmed in the deluge of calls.

Knights also were affected by the age-old seasonal disease, spring fever. Teachers and administrators enforced rules and regulations to counteract students' apathy in classrooms and misdemeanors in the halls and in school parking lots.

Practically every spring day brought announcements advising a proud student body of new Knight achievements.

Assistant principal, Harold Crain, Central Sound spokesman, gained fame throughout the school for his spicy, crisp announcements in Navy vernacular.

It took awhile for excitement to subside after the State tournament March 15, but students managed to settle down to direct attention to the prom, final exams, and Friendship and Round Table assemblies before Commencement on May 29.

Twenty seniors were nominated for Round Table royalty by the yearbook staff November 8.

On the primary ballot in an all-school election, candidates were narrowed to ten finalists. After a campaign culminated by a week's display of photographs and posters in the showcase by the library, the runoff was conducted December 9.

The surprise announcement of the Knight and Lady of the Round Table highlighted the assembly May 20 in which the first copy of the '69 yearbook was presented Principal Jim Johnson.

Round Table editors Nancy Rice and Linda Porter emceed the program. Kevin Duncan's band played. Guest performer was Miss Gwen Carter, Douglass senior.

"Cherish is the word . . ." The Boys' Quartet serenaded the Knight and Lady of Friendship following their coronation May 8.

Because of the nine-week confinement of Bobby Fairchild following an automobile accident, coronation of the Knight and Lady Friendship was postponed from the traditional Valentine's assembly February 14 until Thursday, May 8.

Nancy Fisher, as Alice in Wonderland, and Bill Lacy, the Madhatter, emceed the program.

Entertainment was provided by the Boys' Quartet and Modern Dance class in a specialty number, "The Look of Love."

"Society's Children," band of Student Council member, Jim Rose, furnished music for the program.

New, Old Problems in Updating Education

Special problems which arose concerning the combining of four city schools necessitated extended School Board meetings and concentrated efforts of all school personnel.

Responsibility for implementing the merging of Harding and Central was shared by the five members of the school Board, Dr. Bill Lillard, and his staff.

Playing key roles in these endeavors were Dr. Tom J. Smith, assistant superintendent in charge of administration, and Dr. Jesse B. Lindley, director of secondary education.

Systemwide integration resulted from the majority-minority transfer policies established. These new innovations stemmed from U.S. District Judge Luther Bohannon's order to effect a workable integration plan.

In addition to these new projects, the administration and School Board were concerned with the more traditional problems of balancing the strained school budget and obtaining qualified personnel for the vacated positions in City schools.

A special election was called and passed January 28 on the question of issuing general obligation bonds of eleven and a half million dollars.

Mr. Gilbert Robinson, personnel director, reported a crucial shortage in mathematics teachers.

Newest member of the School Board, Mr. W. R. Yinger, is a prominent religious layman. He and his wife appeared on a national television program in September with the Rev. Billy Graham.

Mr. Foster Estes, Board president, who has served on the Board for eight years, announced he would not run for re-election at the end of his term of office.

Administrative Team Shares Assignments

Concern that "the days of the Knights" be as meaningful and rewarding as possible kept school administrators and counselors alert to the needs and interests of Northwest's students.

Principal Jim Johnson, who completed course work, comprehensive and oral examinations at the University of Oklahoma last summer, hopes to receive his doctor's degree within a year.

Since Mr. Johnson was principal at Northeast high school when integration was first being implemented there, he has served as a consultant to various groups on problems concerning integration.

Stressing that as teachers "we are not Negro and Caucasion, but teachers with a responsibility and dedication to all of the students with whom we are entrusted," Mr. Johnson hired six Negro teachers at Northwest.

The six counselors offered a variety of special services to their respective advisees.

In weekly staff meetings with counselors, administrators, and faculty advisory committee, school policies were updated to keep pace with the growth and development of the entire school program.

Progressive Staff of 138 Enriches Program

Skills and efforts of the 138-member staff were main factors in setting high academic standards and providing the quality educational program traditional at Northwest. Directed by three administrators, the staff consisted of six counselors, activities director, nurse, two librarians, vocational rehabilitation director, 108 classroom teachers and 16 secretaries.

School personnel was completed by 24 cafeteria and 19 custodial workers.

Three new courses were added to the curriculum this year. They were Religions of Mankind, Personal Typing, and Latin American History. These additions meant that the 3100 students at Northwest were offered a total of 121 units of accredited work.

Faculty members participated actively in professional organizations, such as Oklahoma City Education Association and Classroom Teachers Association.

Keeping pace with the national trend, Northwest teachers participated actively in professional and civic organizations.

Mrs. Clara Luper was cited by the State Psychological Society for outstanding leadership in the field of human relations. A nationally known director of NAACP, Mrs. Luper also served as advisor to the Youth Council.

Two English teachers were elected to offices in the English Council. Miss Doris Taylor was named a state director for a three-year term, while Miss Mildred Marson was voted treasurer of the Oklahoma City Council.

During State Teachers' Meeting in October, the Oklahoma Speech Association selected Mrs. Betty Allred executive vice president.

Northwest art teachers contributed a large amount of time to their professional groups.

Mrs. Carol Porta served as vice president of Oklahoma City Secondary Art Teachers. Outgoing president, Mrs. Vasca Jenkins, was named secretary-treasurer to the Grace Chadwick Memorial Art Awards Committee.

Urban Teachers Seek Larger State Voice

"This was a year of decision for City teachers," said Mrs. Eve Williamson, who served as president-elect of the Oklahoma City District of the Oklahoma Education Association.

Sanctions, imposed by the Oklahoma Education Association for the second time in five years on state schools, were retained by request of state teachers. These restrictions imposed regulations on school districts which forbade the hiring of out-of-state teachers.

A strong urban-rural alliance emerged as a key factor in changing what members considered "outdated practices" in the state education association. As a result urban teachers were given a bigger voice in determining policies of the O.E.A.

Joint efforts of City Classroom Teachers and OCEA resulted in an accepted, official plan for implementing professional negotiations between the Board of Education and teacher organizations. Legislation was passed to improve retirement.

MRS. VIOLA SCOTT: Instructional Materials Secretary. MRS. FLORENCE SCUDDER: Instructional Materials Secretary.

'Most Essential' Title Goes to Service Staff

No other groups at Northwest were considered more important to the well-being of the school than were the custodial and cafeteria staffs.

Every time the doors opened, workers behind the scenes had been busy making sure the building was clean and comfortable.

Mr. Sam Teague directed the 18 men and one woman who composed the custodial crew charged with the responsibility of overseeing the forty-acre campus.

"School keeping" tasks of this group included repairing and maintaining all school equipment, grooming the patio and grounds, painting, cleaning, and checking all mechanical operations.

Ladies in the cafeteria accommodated students and teachers by serving breakfast before school each morning. Hot biscuits, eggs, grapefruit, juice, toast, and sweet rolls were daily fare.

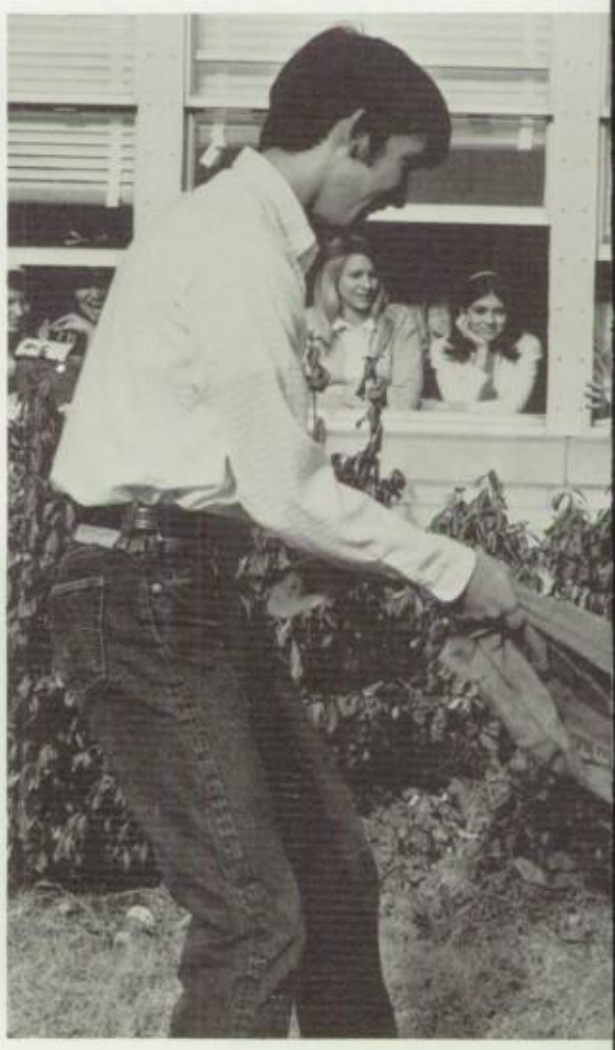
Students Seek to Identify Through Media

MODELING SKILL counts part of Becky McGaughy's grade as Connie Geist sketches her in art class.

REWARDED for their effort, veteran debaters Chris Knop and Steve Robinson add another first-place trophy to the speech department's already bulging showcase. Both speakers won state honors.

PSYCHEDELIC house paintings are given a finishing touch by Barbara Hale, Kathy Knesek, and Cindy Montgomery. The multi-colored house was the artists' entry in State Fair competition.



ROBERT LEWIS, Mark Johnson and "Fang" prove that speech demonstrations can be impressive.

of Expression

Originality, imagination, and interpretation were reflected in endeavors of the speech and art departments.

For the second consecutive year, the speech department hosted more than 500 speakers in the state's largest invitational tournament.

Stage crew members, who assembled creative settings for the three major plays, were on duty at all school productions.

Debaters carried this year's debate question (Resolved: That the U.S. should establish a system of compulsory service by all citizens) to tourneys in Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Missouri.

Because of an increased interest in advanced drama, Northwest's speech department formed Drama IV, concerned primarily with play productions.

"Alice in Wonderland" was the drama department's third annual Children's Theatre offering April 19 at 2 p.m.

Art classes explored new forms of "pop art," sculpturing, and fashion design. Northwest artists took over 15 awards and two gold medals in the state art contest at the Oklahoma Art Center.

"AND THIS is the part I play!" claims Denise Moses, publicity director, as she displays the Dinosaur she designed for her role in "Skin of Our Teeth," the drama department's first all-school play of the year.

Classes Mark Trend Toward Contemporary Authors; Record Number Enroll for Staff, Journalism Work

Contemporary writing was stressed as well as the traditional classics in English courses as students viewed literature with a broad scope.

From modern writings they studied such problems as human relations, urban and rural cultures, and the generation gap.

Some of the new books included in the curriculum were A Separate Peace, Glass Menagerie, Profiles in Courage, and Lillies of the Field.

Three Northwest students were among the state's six winners in national competition sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English.

Dale Hagstrom, Scott Gordon, and Lou Ann Phelps submitted their entries, which included samples of writing and detail-tests, under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Speed, Humanities instructor.

Largest enrollment in school history was recorded in the seven journalism classes where more than 200 students studied basic fundamentals and helped produce school publications.

A LIVING EXPERIENCE—the film course provides a new set of dialogues for each lesson in Mrs. Ruth Ann Norris' French class.

New Practices, Teaching Approach Make Eclectic Academic Program

Innovations in language instruction at Northwest were marked by extended use of the multi-sensory approach, sometimes termed the natural learning method.

Madame Marjorie Kozak, French teacher, was selected for a pilot program in Oklahoma City to introduce a visual-audio-lingual method of teaching French.

Through a set of 120 films produced in France by French actors, the students became a part of the daily life of a French family.

"I'm excited over this much-needed change from our old method," said the enthusiastic Mrs. Kozak.

Students learned to analyze objectively and draw their own conclusions in Religions of Mankind, a new course added this year.

Cultural patterns and historical significance of various religions were explored.

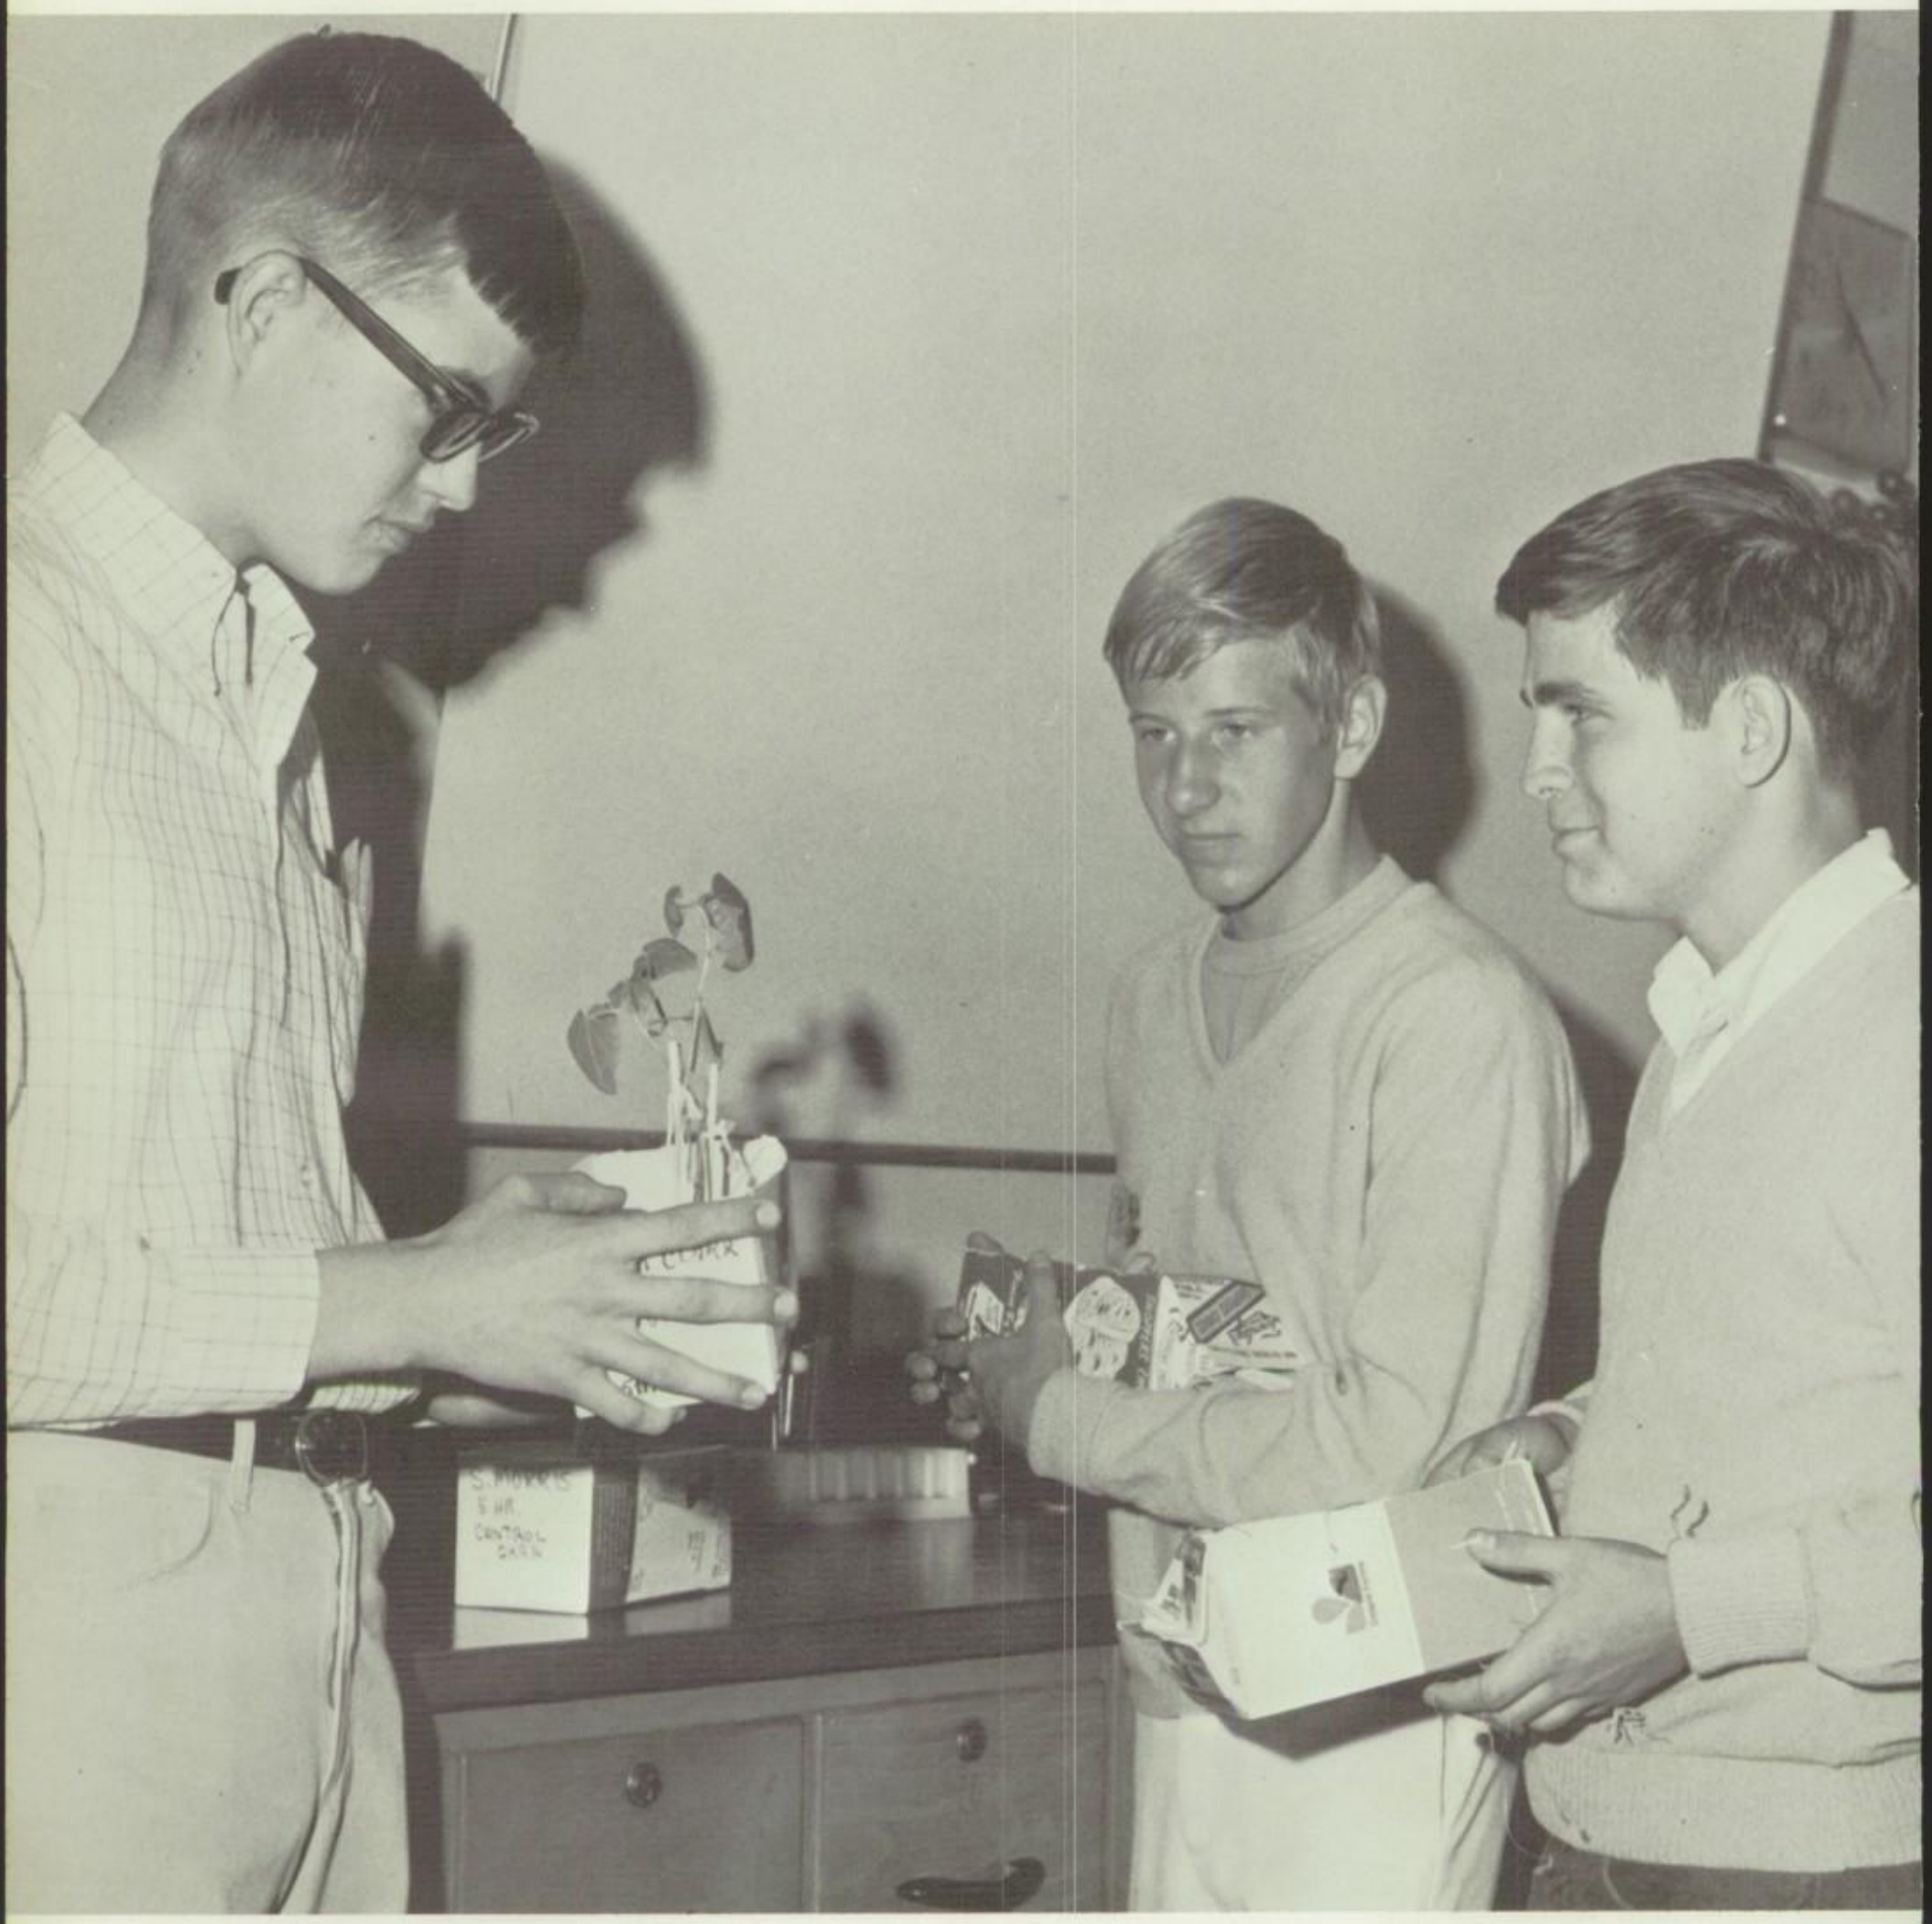
Constant changes in the political and economic struggles of the day, and the trend in foreign travel made the social studies department among the most stimulating at Northwest.

Colorful activities lent interest to regular routine. Psychology and Sociology classes participated in youth seminars and toured local institutions, such as the home for Mentally Retarded children.

Team and television classes in history required students to become expert at listening and taking notes.

Before the November national elections, students in several classes held mock conventions. Campaigning for presidential candidates was heated.

Mrs. Clara Luper's history classes presented models of historical inauguration ceremonies for parents at a special open house and staged an 89'er's Day Run.



"GIVE THEM some sweet talk." Biologists Bob Ginn, Bob Fulton and Steve Swihart get best results when they provide the bean and okra seeds with daily care.

Updated Texts Help Performance; Research Stimulates Science Buffs

The "how and why" of what makes the universe tick were concerns of the science and mathematics departments.

In order to update course work, all new textbooks were acquired in the mathematics department.

Mr. Rodney St. Dizier, chairman of the department, announced that the new books would provide the means for teaching the modern method, which is entirely structural, for the first time in all math classes.

The department's 17 math teachers gathered during pre-school conference week to stamp the 2100 new books.

Also, a full year of calculus in addition to the regular math analysis course, was offered this year.

Termed "fantastic" by Mr. St. Dizier was senior Dale Hagstrom who broke all kinds of records in eight-state regional competition of the National Mathematics Contest.

Dale was the only student in the area to turn in a score over 100.

Marked changes were also effected in the 35 classes listed in the schedule in the science department. Increased enrollment in biology classes for the last few years prompted the addition of a second year biology course, taught by Mrs. Ruth Bryant.

A drop in enrollment in physics and chemistry was reported as students favored the biological sciences.

Science students took advantage of facilities outside school, often taking tours of local installations having scientific interest. The annual Science Fair stimulated out-of-class experimentation and research.

"ONLY 900 more books to stamp," Mr. Rodney St. Dizier, chairman of the mathematics department, informs his co-workers, Mrs. Martha Arnold and Miss Margaret Thompson, during pre-school work week.

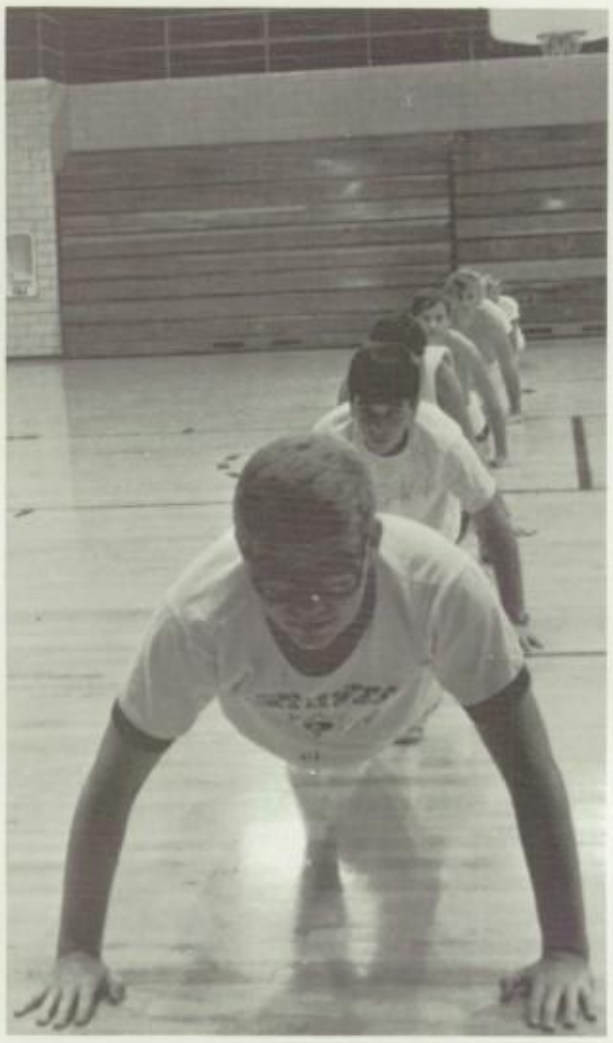
Balanced Agenda Stresses Variety by Providing Valuable Experiences



UP, DOWN, up, down ... calisthenics are part of the daily routine in boys' physical education classes.

"We feel we meet the standards set by the National Physical Fitness Council with our program at Northwest for both boys and girls," said Physical Education instructor Don Van Pool.

As part of a city-wide program, physical fitness tests were given in each class.

The thirty-three members of the Modern Dance class were in constant demand for programs throughout the city area.

They performed on three television shows, at assembly programs at several schools and were assisted by beginning classes in presenting their annual dance pageant April 17-18.

For those with particular interests and aptitudes, girls' sixth hour sports class, depending largely on the weather, offered tennis, bowling, softball and volleyball.

Intra-school girls competitive sports program was curtailed last year, so no regular schedule of games was played as heretofore.

Fifty-three students journeyed by bus each day to 4901 S. Bryant where they attended trade classes half-days at the Vocational Technical Education Center. Three Northwest students were elected to school offices there.

Industrial Arts and Vocational Education courses demanded imagination in all perspectives, whether it was creating or building.

Students had opportunities to get on the job training in a program of mechanical drawing, woodwork, printing, photography, auto mechanics, and architectural drawing.

The only woman in the state to teach electronics, Mrs. Faye Hobson instructed 29 boys in a two-year electronics course.

GRACE AND POISE are reflected in modern dance patterns by Terry Green, Darla Shelden, Cindy Brown, Gail Simmons, and Susan Black who rehearse several hours a day preparing for programs.

TO FINISH his woodwork class project, David Yeagley works after school in the industrial arts shop.

Cosmetology Class Certifies 'Beauty Aides'

PERFECT GIRL CURLS for her wiglet are expertly styled by Shirley Clay, cosmetology student.

So you had a date and your hair was a fright!

This was no problem at Northwest because of the 36 budding cosmetologists ready to set, style, and frost hair into the latest modes.

"Curves that blend with curls were this year's general trend," said new instructor, Miss Claudette Hoatson. She was a member of the Thunderbirds, a unique organization which sets trends in hair styles.

Five new mannequins for practice were acquired by the department this year.

In its third year as a part of Northwest's curriculum, one of the projects of the department was the organization of a chapter of the Vocational and Industrial Club of America. Only VICA representatives are eligible to compete in district and state contests, so Northwest cosmetologists were able to fulfill all requirements.

After completing the two-year course, students may take their examinations for licenses from the State Board of Cosmetology.

Courses Marked for Immediate-Use Stress Participation in Activities

Arts and skills were developed in expanded course offerings in home economics classes.

A marked increase in interest in the popular Family Relations classes was noted as fifteen boys enrolled for the first time. Last year seven boys joined the department.

Problems of budgeting, housing, and social adjustment were considered in these classes, while specialized courses were provided in clothing, foods, and interior decorating.

A panel of boys was selected by members of the Family Relations class to participate in a series of discussions on dating and social problems.

Six sections of this course, taught by department chairman, Mrs. Ramah Miller, were offered this year. Because of popular demand, seven sections will be formed next year. Also, students were active in defending the teaching of sex education.

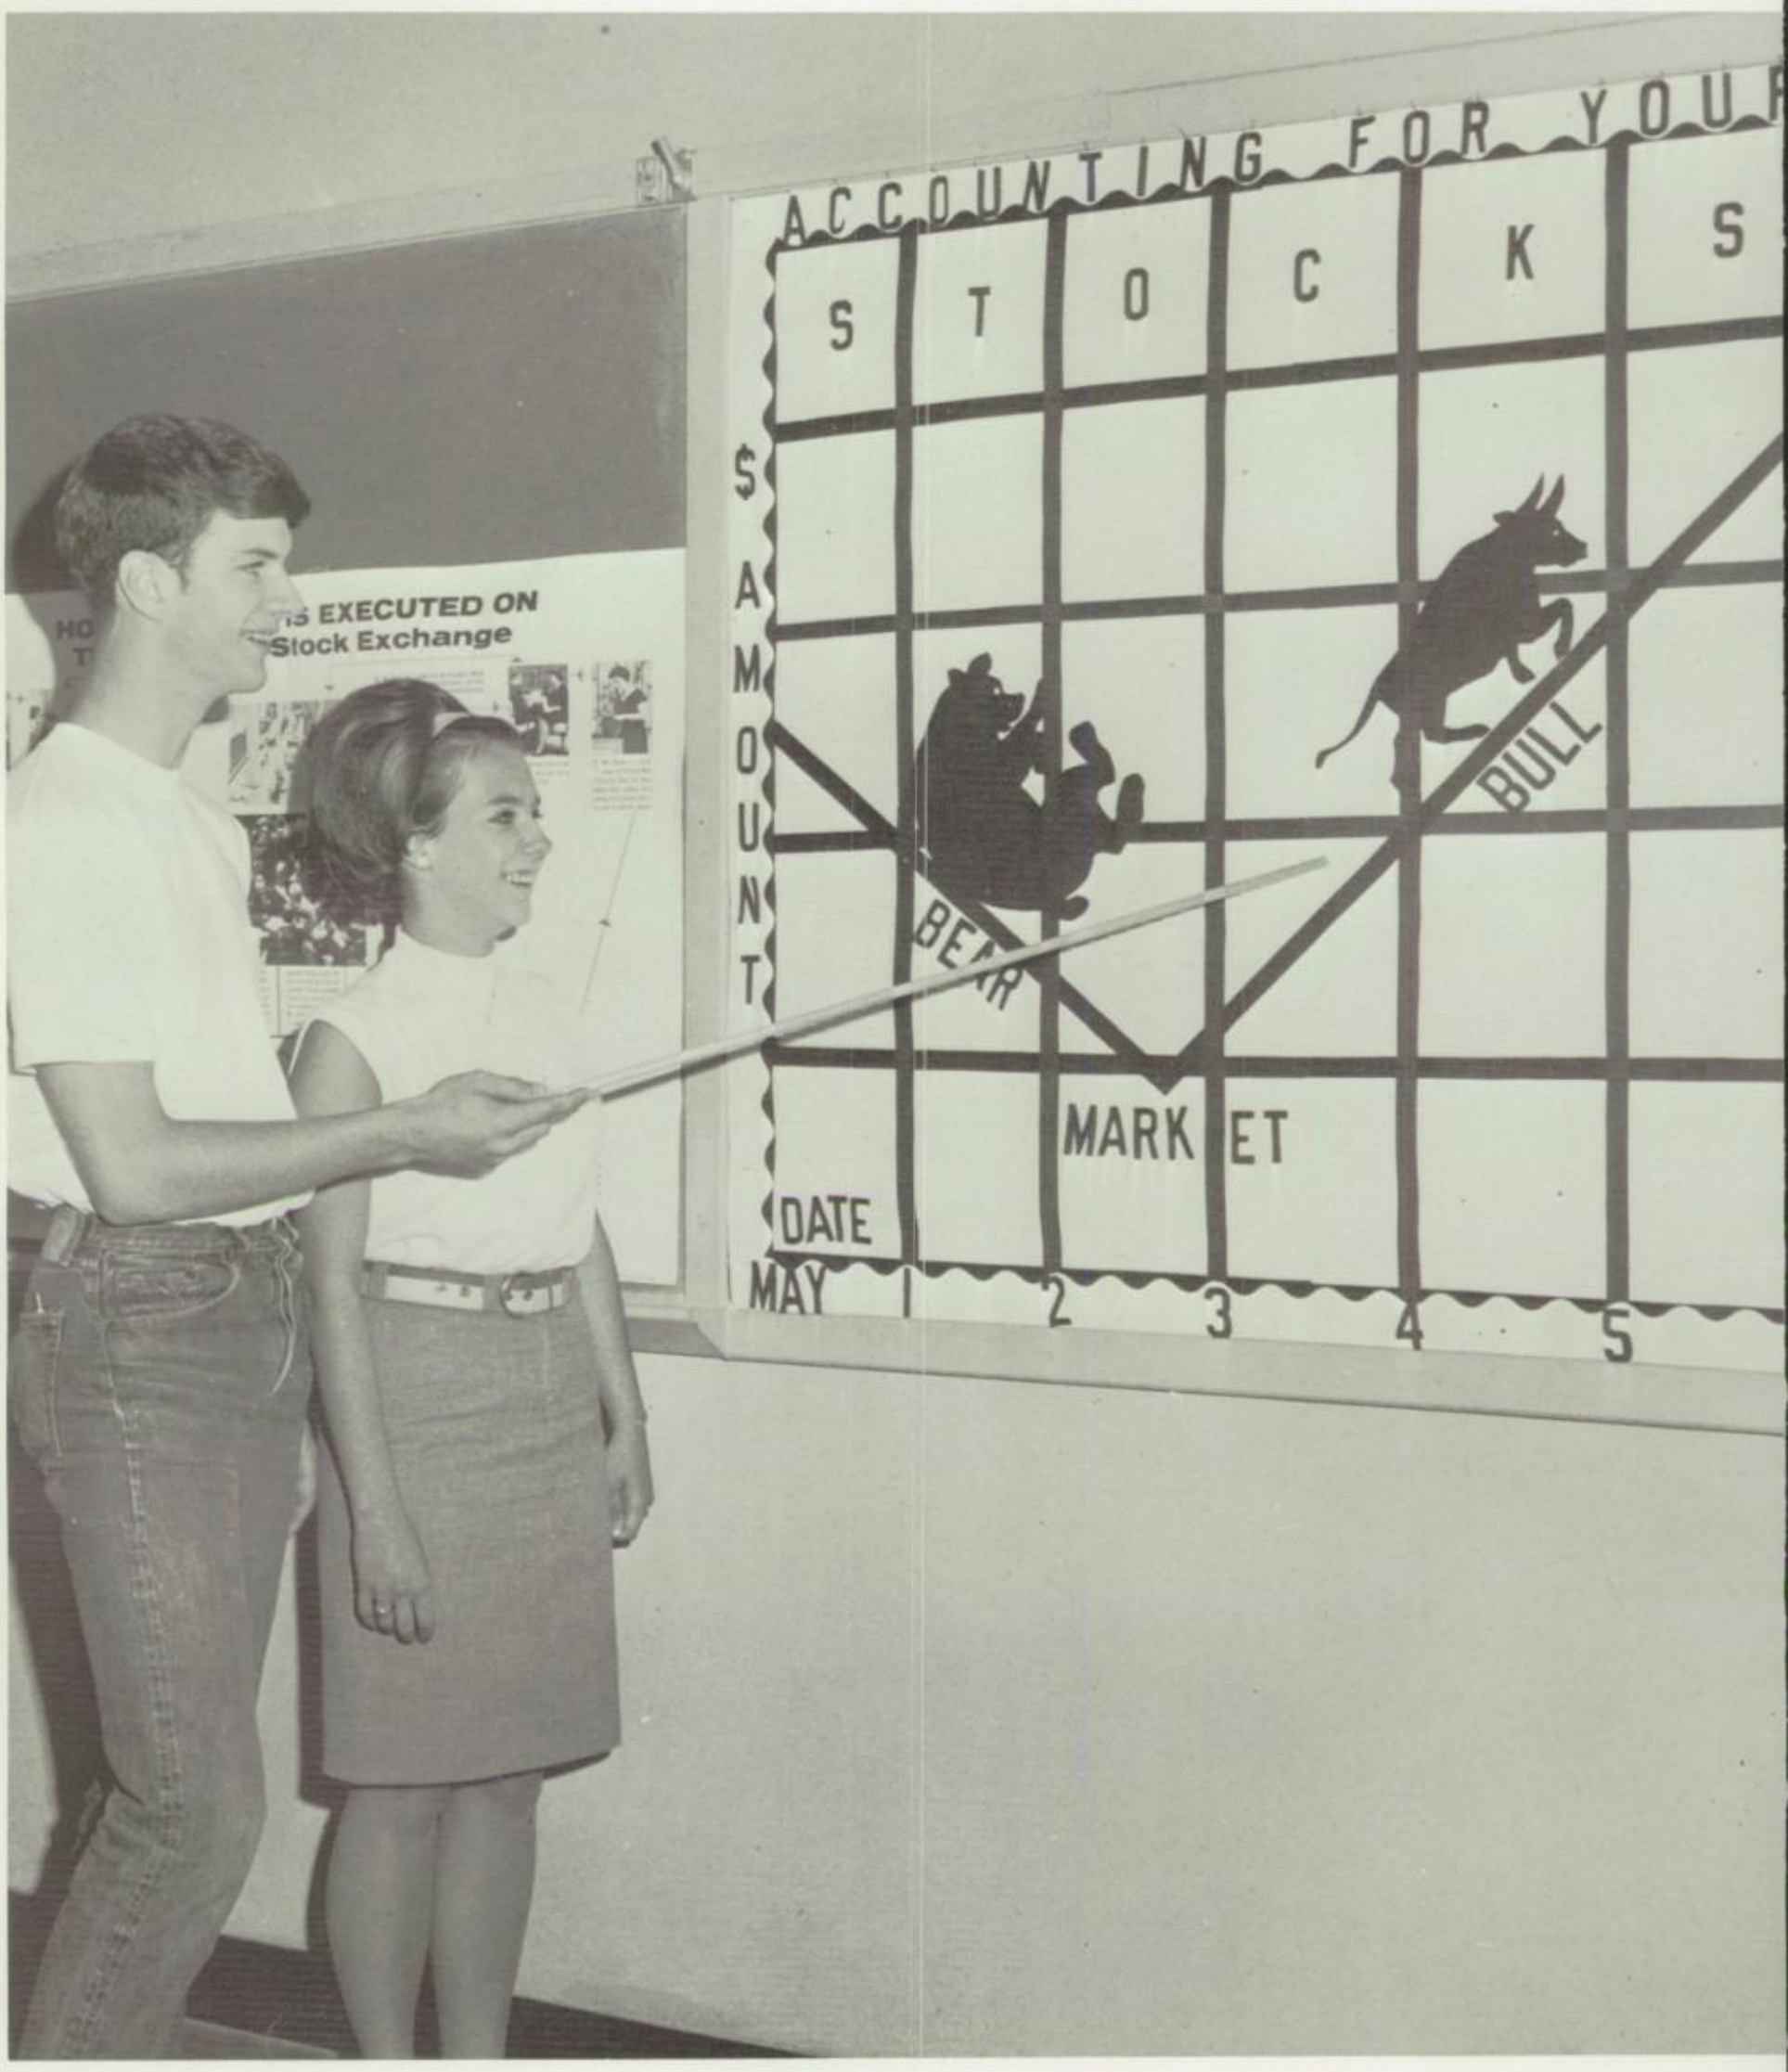
Some of the topics considered were parent relationships, teen-age marriages, and individual anxieties.

In the spring, child care classes received practical experience operating a nursery school. Toys and materials used in the project were designed and constructed by members of the class.

Students took field trips to learn more about their areas of interest. Clothing classes visited fabric centers to study textiles.

Films and guest speakers added interest to class activities. Through these media, students were provided information concerning professional careers in home economics fields.

Novel Methods Broaden Outlook, Develop



"SEE—I DOUBLED my money overnight." Economics student Kevin Duncan explains to Susie Baron how his stock investments paid off.

Useful Skills

Comprehensive courses designed to prepare students for entry into the business world were offered by the business and distributive education departments.

New electronics laboratory equipment enabled business education teachers to provide more individual assistance.

Class work afforded DE students the opportunity to learn marketing, sales, and services, supplemented by on-the-job training. This combination provided preparation for the responsibilities of employment.

Twenty-two students in Cooperative Office Education, under the direction of Mrs. Ivy Copeland, attended a two-hour business machines class and worked in the afternoons.

Class members earned a total of $30,000 in salaries this year. Mari Spencer claimed the top salary first semester of $1,043.20.

A new mobile drive-o-trainer helped accommodate the overflow enrollment in driver training classes.

This spring students who had taken drivers training were eligible to compete for $8,000 in prizes in a safety contest.

Entrants composed essays or slogans and designed posters to vie for school and city cash awards.

"BUT he won't fit in your stocking," insists sales girl Linda Humphrey, Distributive Education student, as she waits on impatient Christmas shopper, Darla Shelden, in a local department store.

SAFETY slogans are displayed on the new mobile Drive-o-Trainer by Becky Rhea, Rosalind Pogue, Jim Powell, and Mindy Swank, sophomore students.

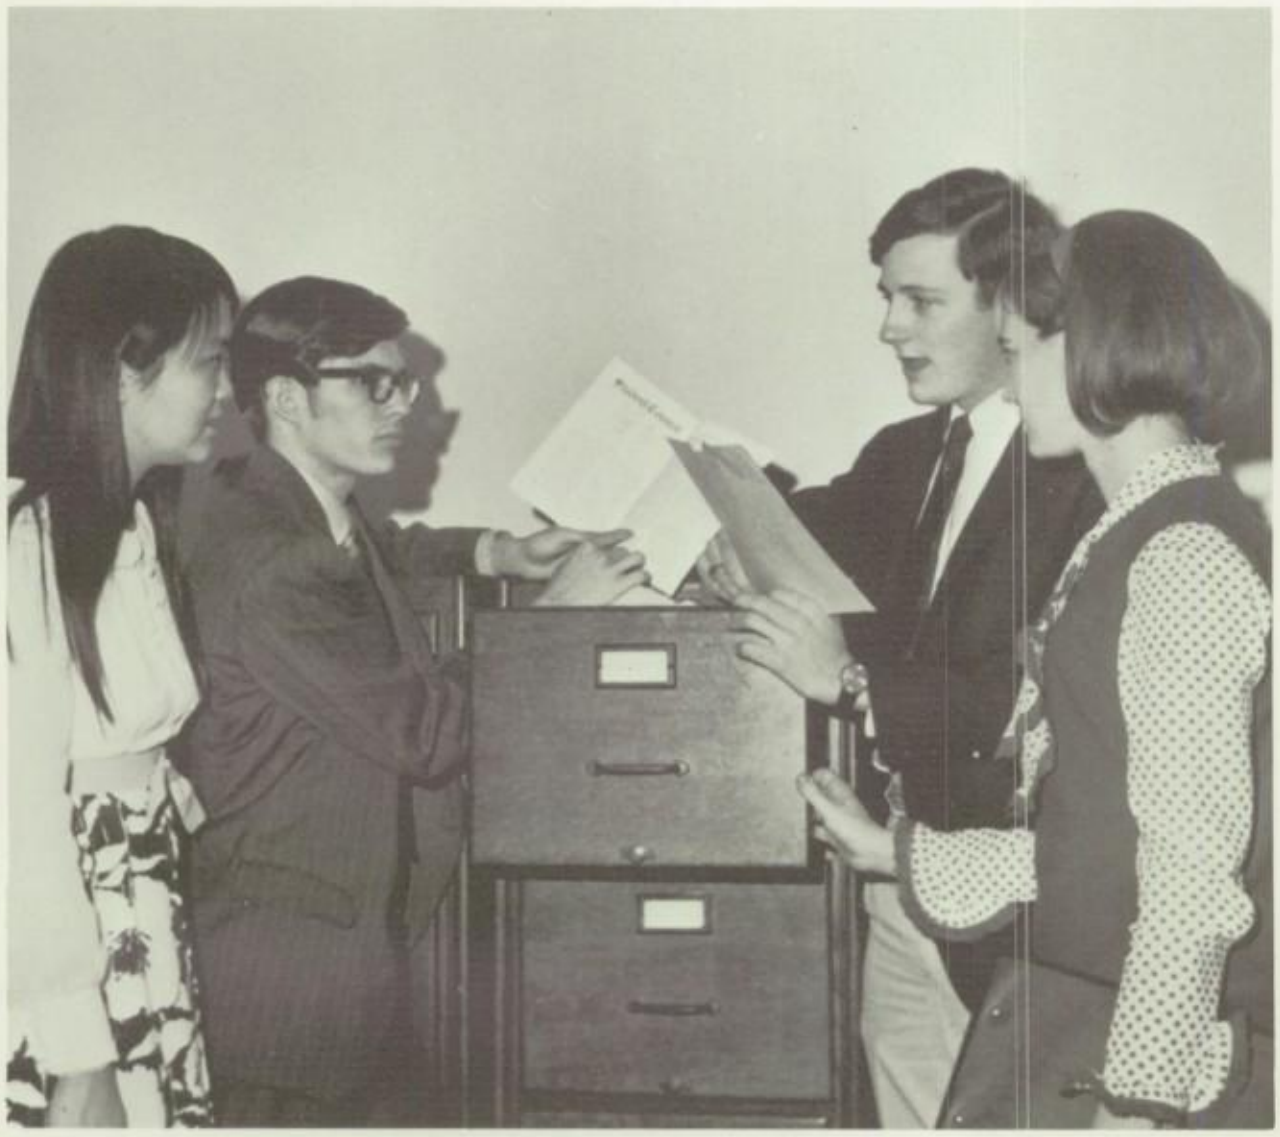
Democratic Processes Approved by Solons



"THIS COURT ETIQUETTE handbook needs revising," decide Student Council officers Cindy Moy, treasurer; Frank Marwood, president; Bill Lacy, vice president; Mary Stacy, secretary.

Guideline for the Student Council activities this year was the motto, "Unity through Diversity," adopted by the Council in September.

"The major goal," explained President Frank Marwood, "was in the area of human relations."

A Human Relations Board was headed by Jeff Cohen and created to study and report on problems resulting from the Board of Education's new integration policy. The group was of equal membership racially.

Beginning with the "Howdy Mixer" the first week of school, Council sponsored mixers several weekends a month, published the school handbook, directed Cupid Express, operated the Student Store and managed all school elections.

Bill Lacy, vice president in charge of elections, reported a record breaking turnout at the polls in the freshman class elections in October.

Students sent Valentine messages via Cupid Express, a traditional Council project.

Council members attended Inter-City meetings once a month and participated in the City Visitation Day programs.

"UH-OH! These don't match," exclaims Jane Edmondson to Scott Rayburn while they hunt for mates as they work in the shoe check room at a school mixer.

Parents Defend Curriculum to Protestors

New areas of interest concerned PTSA members this year following the organization of SOS (Sanity on Sex), composed of parents protesting the teaching of sex education in the schools. Northwest was singled out as a special target.

Mrs. John Bayless, Executive Board member, defended the curriculum by pointing out that only trained teachers were permitted to give such instruction.

Northwest's PTSA chapter sponsored the following traditional activities: Open House, teacher appreciation luncheon, Career Day, Founder's Day Program.

Mrs. W. Rogers Abbott served as state PTA president and presided at the state meeting November 12-14 in Muskogee.

Patrons of Taft Junior High School attended a question and answer period presented January 16 by counselors, administrative staff and students. The program was designed to orient parents.

Gals Outnumber Guys in NW 'Smart Set'

Are the girls brainier than the boys in Knightland? Statistics seem to prove this to be true.

For the sixth consecutive year more girls than boys have been inducted into the National Honor Society here.

The top ten per cent of the senior class was initiated October 28, and five per cent more during the middle of March. Included in this initiation ceremony were the top five per cent of the junior class.

Nine members of the National Honor Society were named finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition. Ten received letters of commendation.

Requirement for initiation into the Honor Language Club was five semesters of B plus average in any one language. Sixty-five linguistic scholars were initiated March 30 in the school Social Center.

Although neither of these honor clubs is a service organization, they both established tutoring programs this year.

"IF THIS tastes like it looks, I'll pass." President Barbara Ketchum samples cheese at a club party.

Honoraries

Formerly Honor Math, Mu Alpha Theta fulfilled requirements for the International Honor Society in its third year of affiliation with the nation's other 900 chapters.

Although the national grade standard for admission is a B average, Northwest's chapter continued to require a 3.75 in three semesters of math, which means a member must have at least two A's, and not more than one B, for entrance. A 3.5 is required to remain a member. A member must agree to enroll in mathematics through his senior year.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted for 64 new members November 11.

National Art Honor Society members were encouraged to explore new medias in art by visits to local art exhibits.

Applicants for membership in the club this year had to submit eight pieces of art work in three medias. Forty-two members met on alternate Wednesdays to view and discuss their work.

Society member, Don Kilpatrick, designed a clothing tag label which was purchased and adopted by a large sportswear manufacturer.

Winning Honors in Young Talent in Oklahoma competition were Patty Hughes, Shelly Horton, Janice Thompson.

Open Forum

CHILDREN are enchanted by Melvin Miller, Great Books Club president, as he entertains them during a weekly babysitting session. The children belong to parents attending night classes at Riverside school.

"Absolutely the most interesting group in school to work with!" Sponsor Janie Creekmore described the Flat Earth Society as a club dedicated to open forum with social and civic progress its goal.

In their efforts to establish an egalitarian society, all members were declared "president."

Members attended lectures by the Washington D.C. Negro leader, the Rev. Channing Phillips, District Attorney Curtis Harris, and Dr. W. Schecter, psychiatrist.

Small and large groups of Great Books Club members could be spotted at most of the city's cultural activities.

They formed theater parties to attend screenings such as "Romeo and Juliet" and "Charley."

Melvin Miller, club president, headed a group which babysat for parents attending night classes at a southside school. Club members were assigned to entertain children every Monday night.

Plays Leading Role in City Music Circles

Northwest's Symphony Hi-Notes Club played a leadership role in city music circles.

Senior Don Orahood served as Inter-City president, directing the activities of groups in 15 area high schools.

Club members ushered at City Symphony Concerts and related events. They acquired a school display case for announcements and supplied a "paint-in" booth at the Arts Festival.

Library Club sponsored a paper back book sale in March to finance club projects. Members attended book reviews and toured city libraries where they learned about new trends in library procedures.

Members commemorated National Library Week April 20-26 with the theme, "Be All You Can Be—Read."

In its second year, Future Business Leaders of America offered worthwhile experiences for students planning a career in the business world. The school Co-operative Office Education class was an integral part of the club's program.

Members sent Valentines to boys in Vietnam, worked at the Business Opportunities booth during the State Fair, and attended the FBLA convention at the Skirvin Hotel, March 21-23.

of Frenchmen

"Going from last year's inactive status to the largest club at Northwest was a drastic jump," laughed Barbara Ketchum, French Club president.

Second semester 153 members paid dues to give the French Club claim to the title of the school's largest club.

In December a "cheese tasting" party was held in the cafeteria. Twenty-seven kinds of cheese were sampled.

An annual tradition was the Yule Log bake sale at Christmas time. "This is the second year," said sponsor Marjorie Kozak, "that all the French pastry was sold out before I could get there third lunch period."

To encourage interest in the culture and language of Ancient Greece and Rome, the Junior Classical League sponsored a variety of activities.

Delegates Lou Ann Phelps, president, and Al Wright were chosen to represent the group at state and national conventions.

Rounding out the year's activities was the Roman style banquet at the Local Federal Bank building.

In true Roman tradition, underclassmen served as slaves to patrician members, clad appropriately in Roman togas.

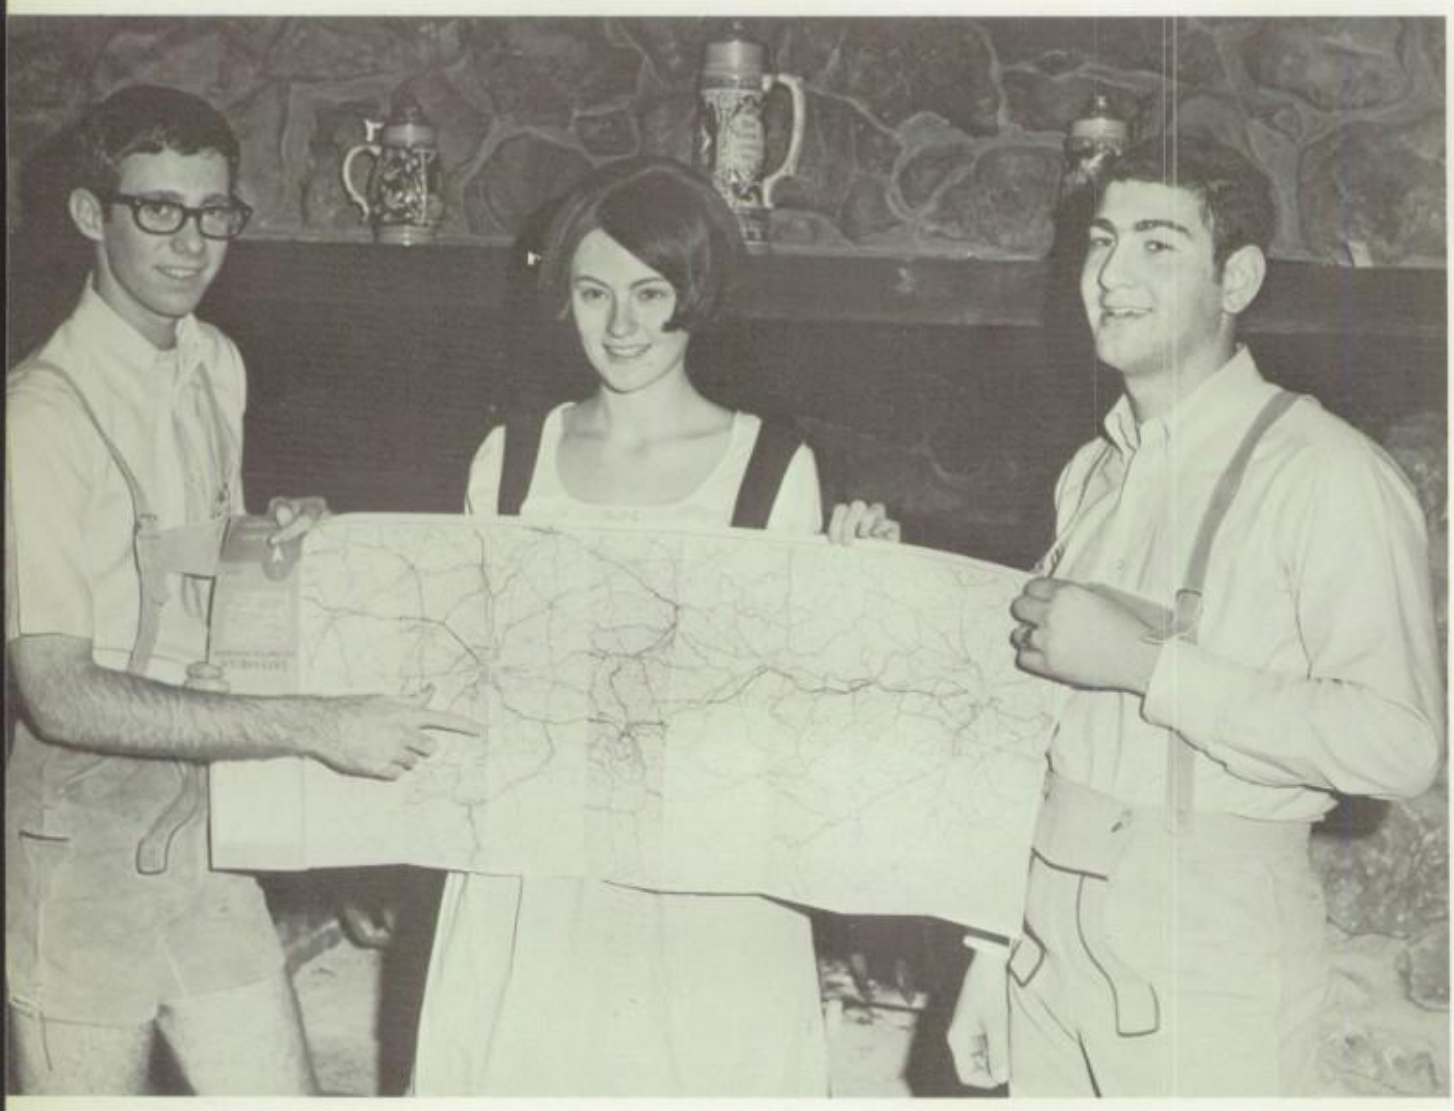
Travel Experience Lures School Linguists



"THIS IS the town I liked best," points out Senior Glen Ashmore as he, Pat Hinkle, and Micky Homsey, report to the German Club about their six-week study tour of Germany last summer.

Natives of Spain and Germany served as guest speakers at monthly meetings of German and Spanish Clubs.

In its fourth year, the Spanish Club, Hispano Americano, launched several new projects.

Rick Pursley, club president, organized a group of eight students to go to Spain on an exchange institute. Club members sponsored projects to help finance their trip.

To add flavor to meetings, scheduled alternate Fridays, members were required to speak only Spanish.

German Club members featured films and discussions by Frau Faye Shinn, sponsor, and 17 members who traveled abroad last summer.

The students accompanied Mrs. Dorit Hall, former German Club sponsor, and Counselor Carolyn Wakely to a six-week language institute at a branch of Innsbruck University in Mayrhofen, Austria, last summer.

Pictures and talks of their experiences highlighted meetings. Party favors at the annual Christmas party were small wooden German figures acquired by club members while in Austria last summer.

"It's not a girl's name," laughed Sponsor Claudette Hoatson about VICA, Northwest's club for cosmetologists, "but Vocational Industrial Club of America."

In its second year VICA attained 100 per cent membership from the cosmetology department.

Latest trends in hair styles were demonstrated by club members in district and regional contests in April. Entries were determined by preliminary contests in individual school clubs.

For the first time VICA girls selected a chapter sweetheart. Four girls were nominated: Donna Schier, Teresa Stinson, Brenda Flatt, and Marcie Hooker. Donna was crowned queen April 3.

Participants in the Distributive Education Club attended Leadership Conferences and hosted employers at their annual banquet January 21.

Judy Colclasure was crowned queen for the second consecutive year at the club's annual spring breakfast in April.

Activities Stimulate Research, Analysis

Reactivated after five years, the Chess Club renewed its charter in December with 13 members and sponsored a spring tournament under the direction of Mr. Rodney St. Dizier, sponsor.

Thirty Science Club members met on alternate Wednesdays with Mrs. Marie Bryant, sponsor, to explore such scientific fields as radioactivity and taxidermy.

For the third year the club encouraged entries in the city science fair by offering $100 to be divided among students requesting aid to finance projects.

Field trips were taken to Kerr McGee Planetarium, Belle Isle Power Plant, and the Science Museum of the University of Oklahoma.

Electronics Club provided its 17 members $25,000 worth of equipment with which to experiment in the electronics laboratory on Monday afternoon and Tuesday night sessions.

"Our superior facilities," said Mrs. Faye Hobson, sponsor, "offer our club members exceptional opportunities in the technical field."

Gras, Camp

Service projects occupied Red Cross and Hi-Y members throughout the year.

"Helping Hand," a tutoring and recreation program set up by County Red Cross for underprivileged children, was supported by school delegates who volunteered their time.

Liz Tatum was elected president and Melinda Stone treasurer of the County Council which met the third Tuesday of each month.

Ten Northwest representatives joined 100 area students for a Leadership Development workshop November 1-3 at Methodist Canyon Camp.

The annual advisory donut sale financed the year's projects.

Hi-Y boys "adopted" a needy family before Thanksgiving. A month's supply of food was donated at Christmas time.

Thirteen Hi-Y'ers chartered a plane and, accompanied by Sponsor Dennis Simpson, flew to the New Orleans Mardi Gras.

In March boys participated in the Youth in Government sessions at the Capitol.

Career Choices Cue to Projects of Interest Club

"Aim High—Be a Teacher," "You Can Be Proud to be a Teacher" were among the slogans displayed on posters by Future Teachers of America Club members during American Education Week.

Other special observances included the members hosting a breakfast for teachers and taking over the direction of classes when permitted by their various teachers Friday, December 11.

Initiation ceremonies for 11 new members of the Girls' "O" Club highlighted first semester activities. A dinner preceded the services.

Members manned concession stands to help finance their annual spring trip to a state lodge.

"Twentieth Century Homemakers encouraged girls to learn more about current trends in all Home Economics fields," head sponsor, Mrs. Ramah Miller explained. Meetings were held monthly.

"BUT I haven't any slipper," insists Cinderella (Nancy Fisher) to Allison Stooker, Judi Glass, and Patsy Danely who portray the stepsisters and stepmother in a scene from the children's theatre demonstration by Thespians at the state meet.

Groups Provide Outlets for Expression

Excellence in speech and drama was recognized by acceptance into the National Forensic League and National Thespians, honorary organizations.

Morning announcements over the Central Sound System were provided by members of the Announcers Club.

Required points were earned by those students wishing membership into NFL and Thespians, and initiations were held in the fall and spring. To remain an active member, a certain number of points were required to be earned by participation in tournaments, assemblies, plays or demonstrations each semester.

Applicants for the Announcers Club were auditioned at the beginning of the year before a club committee where they were judged on the basis of tone, diction, and voice control.

Demonstrations in children's theatre were presented by Northwest's Thespians at the State Thespian Conference held at U. S. Grant. Scenes from "Land of the Dragon," a colorful, Chinese play, and the well-known "Cinderella" featured 12 school Thespians.

Unprecedented honors were accorded National Forensic Leaguers as they journeyed across several states including Texas, Missouri, Louisiana, Iowa and Washington.

The National Tournament set for Washington D. C. in June will be attended by six qualifying debaters, including Charles Pierce, second sophomore in state history to reach nationals.

To qualify, these members had to place first, second, or third in a qualifying tournament which enabled them to go on to Regionals where they ranked in the top three.

Thespians and NFL worked together early in the fall to present a Demonstration Day for state troupes.

Demonstrations were given in make-up, costumes, debating, acting, radio, and extemporaneous speaking.

Featured attraction at the State Thespian Conference is the scene from "Land of the Dragon" in which Martha Brown, Mike Cowherd, and Cindy Harvey approach Margaret Easterly.

Scribes Focus on Issues in Columns, 'Tell

Patterned after the "School-as-a-City" approach in newspaper production, The Shield served as a link in interpreting and communicating every aspect of school life to the students and community.

Controversial subjects were covered in letters to the editor, polls, depth reports, and editorials. Integration, the teaching of sex education in the City schools, narcotics, and the generation gap were a few of the topics explored.

In the annual feature writing contest sponsored by the Oklahoma City Times, Kathy Kearney penned the prizewinner and won a summer job.

Sports writers were accorded All-Columbian honors in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest. Only five papers, selected from the Medalist group, received this distinction for sportswriting.

Thirteen school journalists sharpened their techniques by attending the National Scholastic Press Association convention during Thanksgiving vacation.

Press releases and creating good public relations for Northwest were responsibilities of the newspaper staff.

Anne Funderburk served as correspondent to the Times two years. She submitted stories which were regularly published on the Times for Teens page.

'69 Yearbook Features Change in Format

Basketball boys had the '68 state champion team to measure up to; yearbook staffers were constantly challenged by the plaque on the journalism office wall designating the '67 Round Table as one of the top ten in the nation in the third annual S. K. Smith awards.

Other wall displays included five All-Americans and six Medalist certificates from National and Columbia Scholastic Press Associations, respectively, and one A-plus rating from the National School Yearbook Association.

"No sacrifice is too great for the Round Table," editors playfully reminded the 23 staff members as they scurried around town setting up pictures and passed up school activities and dates in order to meet deadlines.

A new look was achieved in the Round Table this year when the page size was increased from 8½ by 11 to 9 by 12 inches. Column layouts consisted of three 2½ inch blocks.

Chief photographer Randy Marx won the award for being the outstanding student in the photo journalism workshop at the University of Oklahoma.

WEARY TRAVELERS, Nancy Rice and Linda Porter, Round Table editors, arrive on the Ohio University campus at Athens, Ohio, to attend the world's largest journalism workshop for highschool staff members.

Society Presents Benefit Concert, Installs Chapter

Twelve initiates qualified for membership in Quill and Scroll, international honor society, by ranking in the upper third of their class scholastically and by their outstanding contribution to one of Northwest's publications.

Heading the list of the Society's projects was the benefit concert staged to help rebuild the Freedom Center, a building in Northeast Oklahoma City for young people to gather for recreation and counseling. It was burned by unknown arsonists September 10.

Officers installed a new chapter of Quill and Scroll at Moore High School the evening of May 7.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted in April for new members at the annual spring banquet. Speaker was Mr. Frank Boggs, Daily Oklahoman columnist.

Awards were presented individuals for outstanding service to school publications in the areas of photography, editorials, features, sports, and news writing.

Officers were Linda Porter, president; Anne Funderburk, vice president; Allyson Gatlin, secretary-treasurer.

Choristers Give Concert for Mexico Tour

"Probably the best known mixed chorus in this part of the country" is the label applied to Cry-Slurs by business manager, Mr. Buck McPhail, who made arrangements for the numerous public appearances of Northwest's "elite Chorus."

The first major production of the year was the pop concert presented in a fall assembly. This was followed six-weeks later by the Christmas Spectacular featuring colorful settings created by stagecraft classes.

All the music groups spent the usual amount of time during the Christmas season caroling and providing musical programs for hospitals, convalescent homes, and shopping centers.

It was win-number-12 at the District contests for the school musicians as they brought back sweepstake honors from Edmond February 28-29. In March the group went on to take honors in state competition.

The spring concert, featuring the City Junior Symphony, was May 9.

The end of school meant a week's concert tour of Mexico, highlighted by appearances before the President.

"CHESTNUTS ROASTING on the open fire," Riley Cleaver's solo is a big hit at the Cry-Slur Christmas Spectacular, presented in Northwest's auditorium to capacity audiences during the Christmas season.

Performance Patterns Set for Appearances

"No matter the weather, we will practice at 7:30 a.m." This familiar directive from Mr. John Pennington helped the Knight bandsmen to their second consecutive superior trophy in the Capitol Hill Regional Marching Contest.

It was victory number nine for the majorettes in the Kilgore, Texas, clinic where they won first place in competition with twirlers from throughout the Southwest.

Most unique halftime shows presented during football season were the homecoming spectacular, featuring a fire routine by majorettes, and the Douglass game presentation of the queen and her court.

New concert and marching band uniforms were goals of fund raising.

The pep band, directed by drum major Bill Holloway, furnished music at basketball games and for pep rally skits.

Five members of the orchestra were selected to the All-State orchestra and participated in a concert presenting the All-State instrumental musicians in February.

Achieving this distinction were seniors Ken Beck, Carla Emery, and Tom Rich. Sophomores Libby Tabor and Albert Bucholz were chosen for the All-State band.

The annual winter concert was held this year in the Fine Arts Auditorium at Oklahoma City University. Guest piano artist, senior Frank Johnson, performed the Piano Concerto by Shostakovich with the orchestra.

Northwest's band and orchestra participated in contests in Edmond, Norman, and at OCU. In addition to the complete groups, duets and ensembles were entered in their divisions.

A new scheduling plan was initiated this year enabling the brass and woodwind sections to be divided into two class periods.

The two classes met two mornings each week at 7:30 a.m. to practice.

Bill Holloway, senior drum major, won a top award for his performance in the state competition at the University of Oklahoma the first week of December.

Eminent Group Taps Top Boys for Civic Duties

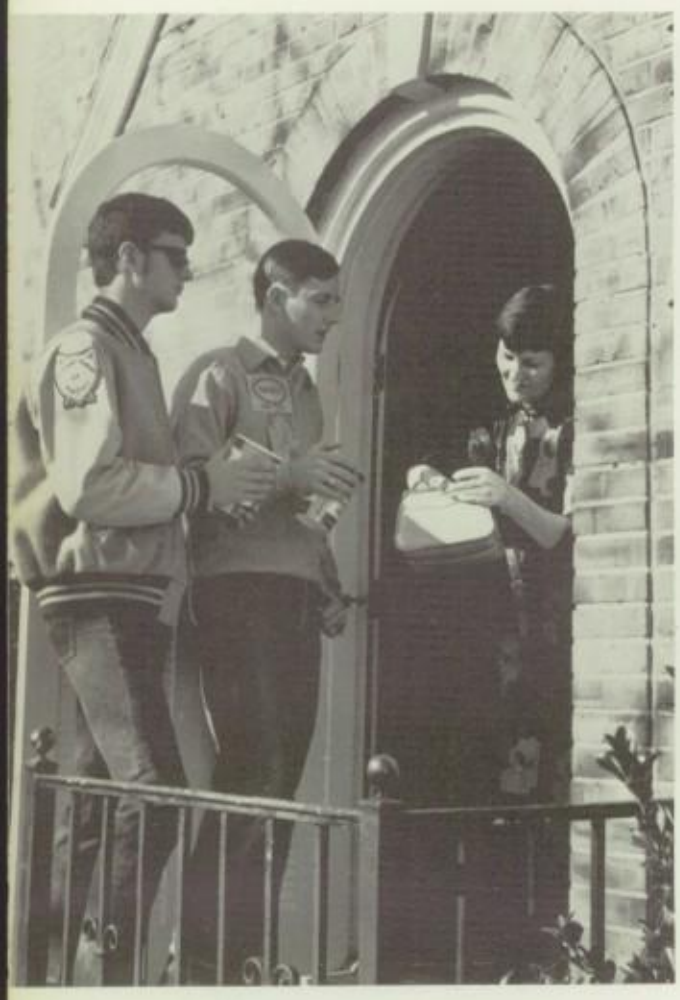
Key Club, an international organization composed of boys who have distinguished themselves as leaders, consisted of outstanding sophomore, junior, and senior boys who have maintained a B average through high school.

Contact with business and professional leaders of the city each Monday at a luncheon forum strengthened the understanding of local problems and broadened the career interests of Key Club members.

Elected in March 1968 as Lieutenant Governor of Division 19, junior Chuck Wells helped guide the activities of club chapters in Central Oklahoma.

Directed by Mr. Bill Scott and Mr. Dennis Simpson, traditional service projects were carried out as well as new ones.

Projects included collecting for the United Appeal, ringing bells for the Salvation Army, serving as hosts on Career Day, registering students' and teachers' cars, and selling mums for homecoming.



SOLICITING a contribution for the United Appeal campaign from Mrs. Ed Duncan are members Kevin Duncan and Bill Lacy.

Official Hostesses Usher for School Events

Fulfilling their purpose of service to the school, Courtesy Club members served as hostesses for Freshman Orientation, PTSA Open House, Career Day, and OEA Meetings.

Uniting again with Key Club, Courtesy Club girls worked on community projects and combined for social events.

Highlight of the social calendar was the January barn dance at Frontier City attended by 150 couples.

The two clubs joined together to help with the United Appeal Drive, Career Day, and PTSA Open House.

Courtesy Club girls ushered for the Blazers' hockey games, rodeos, spring concerts, senior assembly, and other civic events in order to finance projects.

The club sponsored a bake sale and contributed the profits to the Red Cross. At Christmas time, club members made and distributed table decorations for the Children's Convalescent Home.

Supervising all activities were Mrs. Mollie Mae Davidson, head sponsor, Mrs. Mary Howard, Mrs. Barbara Gales, Mrs. Marcia Smith, and Mrs. Nancy Bradshaw.

BASKETS are filled at Thanksgiving and Christmas for needy families by Courtesy Club officers Lisa Lanyon, treasurer; Georgeann Riley, president; Diane Kellert, secretary; Wanda Younge, assistant treasurer; and Patsy Taylor, vice president. These girls served as first semester officers.

Games, Shows, Trips – Coronets Had a Ball!

Sparked by a new head sponsor plus two new assistants, the 500 Coronet pep club girls labeled 1968-69 a year of "happenings."

First semester officers were hauled from their warm beds at 6:30 a.m. Saturday, December 14, to attend a surprise "come-as-you-are" breakfast hosted by sponsors.

A Christmas show, complete with costumes, printed programs, stage crew, and production staff, was presented by Coronets. Linda Windham authored and directed the spoof of fall sports activities and personalities.

"Knights at the Mardi Gras" was the theme of the annual basketball banquet. Scenes depicting the New Orleans festival were reproduced in decorations in the entrance and banquet halls at Shepherd Mall's Val Gene's. After two postponements, the dance was held April 11.

Lyn Self headed nine committees which planned details of the dinner dance.

Club sponsors were Mrs. Linda Moore (head sponsor), Mrs. Eby Grove, Miss Liz Lipmann, Mrs. Charline Burton, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burdette.

Club Stages Movie Scene to Amuse Athletes

GATHERING at Shepherd Mall to decorate for the annual Cygnet Banquet honoring the football players are officers (top) Debi Young, president; Cathy McGregor, vice president; Terry Green, secretary; Cheryl Wilson, attendance secretary; Nancy Rice, treasurer; and Susan Black, assistant treasurer.

Gridmen were treated to a "Saturday Knight at the Movies" by Cygnet pep clubbers who created a theatrical atmosphere for their annual dinner dance honoring the football team at Val Gene's in Shepherd Mall.

Place cards were popcorn boxes individualized with verses about each player on the inside cover. Bits of popcorn were protruding from box tops.

Mr. Ron Shotts, former football star at the University of Oklahoma, was guest speaker.

To finance the banquet, girls sponsored projects which included bake sales, garage sales, and ice cream socials on the patio after school.

Cygnets attended all Knight sporting events, presented skits for pep assemblies, and participated in Pep Council activities.

Sponsors were Mesdames Eve Williamson, Alice Chesher, Clovia Harrison, and Helen Willingham.

Activities Lift Spirit, Link School Groups

Provisions of the revised constitution of Court Jesters specified that all officers need not be cheerleaders, as has been the custom throughout the club's ten-year history.

Instead, cheerleaders served as sergeants at arms and instructors for the group's 125 members.

Class representatives Jo Beth McNarry, freshman; Liz Johns, sophomore; Celia Saied, junior; and Patty Hughes, senior; recorded total points earned by their respective class members.

Points were given for making and wearing spirit signs, or chanting.

Through extended, supervised practice, girls polished and perfected cheering techniques and only club girls were eligible for all-school cheerleader.

Pep Council Coordinates All Spirit Schemes

SINCE the activities calendar requires careful consideration, Pep Council members Cindy Brown and Bill Lytle consult with activities director Kathleen Owen before scheduling an upcoming event.

Coordinating the efforts of the pep clubs in establishing and maintaining school spirit and good sportsmanship was the purpose of the Pep Council.

Membership consisted of voting delegates: pep club presidents, their head sponsors, and spirit chairman of Student Council; non-voting members: 'O' club president, head cheerleader, head majorette, representatives from each sport, and a representative from each pep club.

Pep Council committee members planned the seating arrangement at homecoming and worked out details.

Responsibility for checking the format for pep rallies and assemblies was delegated to the Council. Following these events there was careful evaluation and recommendations for changes.

New cheerleading uniforms, proposed cheers, and all skits to be presented at pep rallies were screened and approved by the council.

After considerable discussion, Pep Council committee members compiled a list of revisions to their constitution in order to adjust to changing school life.

Sixty boys who lettered in at least one of nine varsity sports composed the Boys "O" Club.

Banners designating each state championship team in the school's fourteen-year history were purchased and placed on permanent display in the gymnasium by the "O" Club.

Service projects and social functions were financed by a football program that the "O" Club published and sold at home games.

Club members sponsored an all-school pep rally at a local theater as one of their money-raising projects. Boys sold tickets at school to the movie Paper Lion, a film featuring professional football.

Initiation ceremonies into the club were conducted three times during the year, after fall, winter, and spring sports.

Serving as officers were Mark Ackman, president; John Cheatham, vice-president; Marty Schnetzler, secretary.

FOOTBALL PROGRAMS are checked out every week before games by "O" Club officers Marty Schnetzler, Mark Ackerman, John Cheatham and Bill Fleetwood, who served first semester.

in Conference, District, Ranks 2nd in State

THIS was the year of the Knights—almost. Sparked by a "Super" defense and potent offense, Northwest's football team garnered Mid-State and District titles and a second-place finish in the State Class AAA finals.

After capturing the Mid-State title the Knights met Lawton in the District playoff at Lawton. The number-one ranked gridders surged into the finals by edging the Wolverines 14-6. Quarterback Paul Rosenberg pegged touchdown passes to versatile John Carter and sophomore running back Steve Harris for two scores.

The following Saturday, December 14 at 2 p.m., before 16,000 fans in Skelly Stadium in Tulsa, Northwest suffered its lone defeat of the campaign, 33-14, at the hand of the Tulsa Washington Hornets.

The Knights played an inspired first half as Marc Funk and Steve Veatch turned in outstanding defensive performances to hold the Hornets to a single touchdown. Northwest scored all its points in the opening half, on a 78-yard fumble recovery return by defensive-end Veatch and a 40-yard touchdown completion to Harris.

The second half was dominated by Tulsa Washington as the Hornets scored four touchdowns and intercepted five passes to thwart Knight scoring threats.

Coach Dean Choate guided the varsity Squad to an 11-1 record and upped his won-loss skein for three years to 26-5-1. The defensive-minded team scored 266 points while limiting opponents to a paltry 83 points.

Picked as pre-season favorites by coaches and sportswriters, Knights were constantly under pressure to justify these ratings.

Knight gridmen made a spectacular showing at the prep preview the first week of school. Featuring area teams, the preview was televised for the first time.

Knights' first victim as the Eagles battled their hosts at Taft Stadium. Carter scored two touchdowns to help smash Lawton Ike 29-6.

The next week the vaunted defense administered an awesome beating to sadly outmanned Capitol Hill as Northwest opened its drive for the Mid-State crown with a 32-6 win. The Redskins were held to —13 yards rushing and were able to complete only 3 of 28 passes for 31 yards.

The gridmen had their hands full with Southeast but broke open an 11-6 game with a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter and went on to dump the Spartans 31-12. Workhorse fullback David Capshaw paced the ground attack with two touchdowns.

Midwest City traveled to Taft Stadium to meet the Knights and was defeated 10-7. Northwest's lone touchdown came late in the first period when Carter pounced on a fumble by Bomber quarterback Johnny Brandon in the Knights'

Behind two touchdown catches by Mark Grimes Northwest defeated John Marshall 16-0. Jim French intercepted three passes and Funk intercepted two to stop Bear touchdown drives.

The Knights turned three U. S. Grant miscues into touchdowns for a 21-0 romp over the Generals. Rosenberg completed 10 of 21 aerials for 138 yards and two touchdowns to Capshaw and Veatch.

Journeying to Enid to play in the No. 1 game of the week, the gridders downed Enid 14-6. Carter played brilliantly, scoring two touchdowns and leading the rugged defense.

The following week Northwest put its best foot forward by blitzing Shawnee 44-7. Sophomores Steve Harris and Kreg Blair each scored twice for the victors.

With a chance to wrap up the Mid-State trophy, the marauding Knights traveled to arch-rival Putnam City to up their record to 9-0.

Exploding for two quick touchdowns, in the first quarter, Northwest went on to subdue the Pirates 20-0.

The Knights put an end to regular season competition on a perfect note by shutting out Douglass 21-0. Harris tallied twice and Carter once to give their school its first unblemished season since 1959.

Carter and Grimes received All-State honors from the Daily Oklahoman, with Carter being named Lineman of the Year by both the Oklahoman and the Journal.

Carter was also named to the '69 high school All-American team by Scholastic Magazine. The only other Oklahoman honored was Clinton's James Williams. Both boys signed letters of intent to attend Oklahoma State University.

Final records of 3-5-2 and 5-4 were compiled by the football B and C teams, respectively.

The junior varsity attained its record with victories over Capitol Hill, Southeast, and John Marshall, then lost to Midwest City, Grant, Putnam City, Moore, and Star-Spencer. Draws were registered with Putnam City West and Putnam City.

Top performers for the B team were sophomores Gary Barker, Glen Ebeling, and Fred Gonzalez. Junior standouts were Greg Cherry, Craig Humphreys, Scott Rayburn, and Chuck Wells.

Five wins and four losses comprised the freshman record with wins coming against Classen, Star-Spencer, Capitol Hill, Southeast, and Northeast. Losses came at the hands of Jarman, John Marshall, Douglass and Grant.

Standouts for the Little Knights were Mark Held, Phil Littlefield, Pat Harley, Steve Smith, and Stephen Smith.

Coach Fred Holloway directed the B team; Mr. Tom Erwin, the C-squad.

ONE HUNDRED RUNNERS begin the grueling two-mile race at the OSU Invitational Meet.

Harriers Set State, School Records in Meets

ALL-STATER Gene Horton strives for the lead over his U. S. Grant opponent in the Mid-State Conference meet at the Fairgrounds.

Claiming the first cross-country state championship in school history, Coach Rex Irwin's harriers scored 46 points to outdistance nearest rival Putnam City by 15 points.

Knight leatherlungers outdistanced opponents by the widest margin in the history of Class AA cross-country in the state of Oklahoma.

Junior Gene Horton led Northwest with his effort of 9:46, good for second place in the state meet. Other counters for the Knights were Rick Brown, seventh; Marty Schnetzler, ninth; John Bell, thirteenth; and Phil Smith, fifteenth.

Earlier in the season Northwest captured the city championship at the Oklahoma City fairgrounds course. The Knights scored 43 points, followed by U. S. Grant with 48 points. Horton earned the title of Best in City by clocking 9:36 to cross the line first in the City meet.

Other Knight finishers were Brown, fifth; Schnetzler, sixth; Bell, fifteenth; and Smith, sixteenth.

Northwest's only disappointment came when the Knights finished behind Putnam City and U. S. Grant for a third place finish in the Mid-State Conference meet.

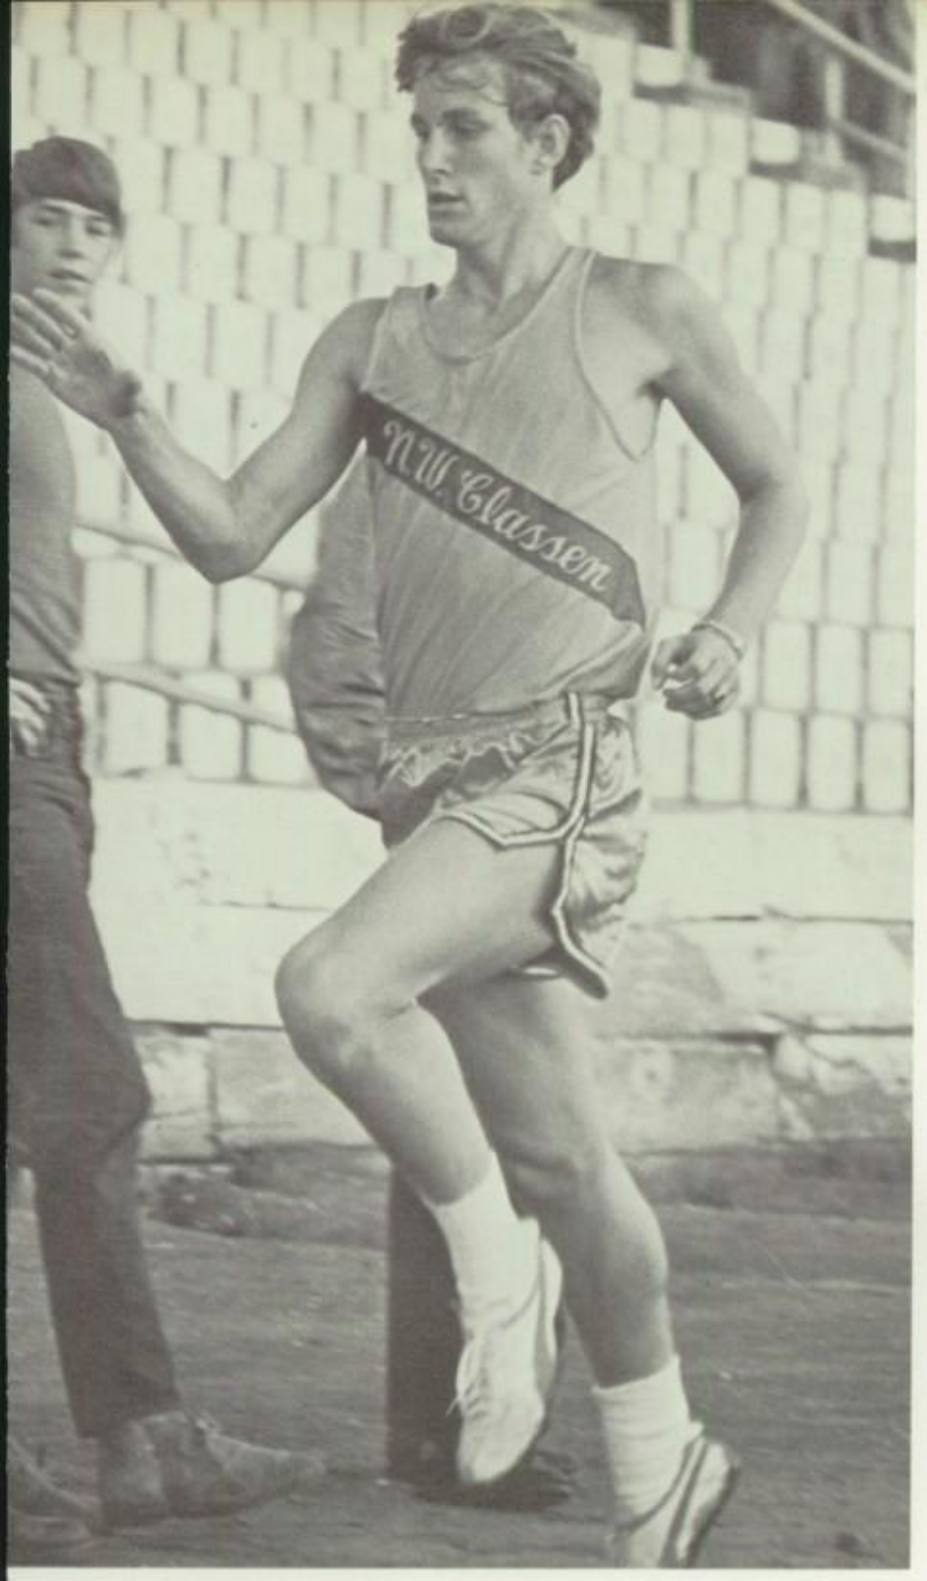
In the six-mile relays hosted by U. S. Grant, at the fairgrounds, Knight runners finished second behind the Generals.

Northwest's first team consisted of Smith, mile; Brown, mile; Bell, half mile; Schnetzler, mile and a half; and Horton, two-mile. Total time for the Knights was 29:04.

Dual meet competition resulted in a record of 5-1 for Northwest, who lost only to U. S. Grant. The Knights' well balanced team defeated Southeast and Capitol Hill. Chief rival Putnam City was defeated twice.

Southeast was the only team shutout by the Knights this year. With a perfect score of 15 to 50, top runners for Northwest were Horton, Schnetzler, Brown, Steve Flynn, Smith, Doug Rasmussen, and Roger Miller.

At the annual cross-country team banquet Coach Rex Irwin awarded fourteen letters. Lettermen were Schnetzler, Brown, Smith, Flynn, Robert Worthing, Bill Hill, Miller, Jack Mills, Bob Stoldt, Bell, Horton, Joel Drury, Rasmussen, and Brian Meneguzzi.



TIME is of the essence to senior Marty Schnetzler.

Cagers Shatter Records in Sweep of Titles

At the beginning of the season, Northwest's b-ballers had two objectives: to win the Mid-State Conference and to repeat as state champions.

Led by 6' 10" Steve Mitchell, the talented Knights accomplished goal number one and were well on their way to number two, posting 21-1 season record. It was the best season record in school history due largely to Mitchell who averaged 21.5 points a game and intimidated the opponents on defense.

In the season opener, Northwest trounced Shawnee 65-30 as 10 Knights broke into the scoring column. Mitchell led all scorers with 19 points.

The Purple and Gold then traveled to Lawton to participate in the inaugural Bi-State tournament. The Knights claimed the tournament crown with victories over Putnam City West 68-42, Bartlesville Sooner 68-54 and Marlowe 60-44.

Mitchell was selected Most Valuable Player and senior playmaker John Cheatham joined him on the All-Tournament team.

Capitol Hill was the next Northwest victim, falling 52-46. The Redskins effectively contained Mitchell, but junior Don Raunborg broke loose for 26 points and game scoring honors.

Putnam City's 20-8 first quarter lead looked as impregnable as the Bastille.

"MISSING basketball season is the hardest part," says Bobby Fairchild of his nine-week confinement following an automobile accident the night of The Tulsa Tournament. Craig Dawkins, Frank Allen, and Leon Meyers were also injured in the wreck. Bobby, Leon, and Frank were managers; Craig, a Varsity player.

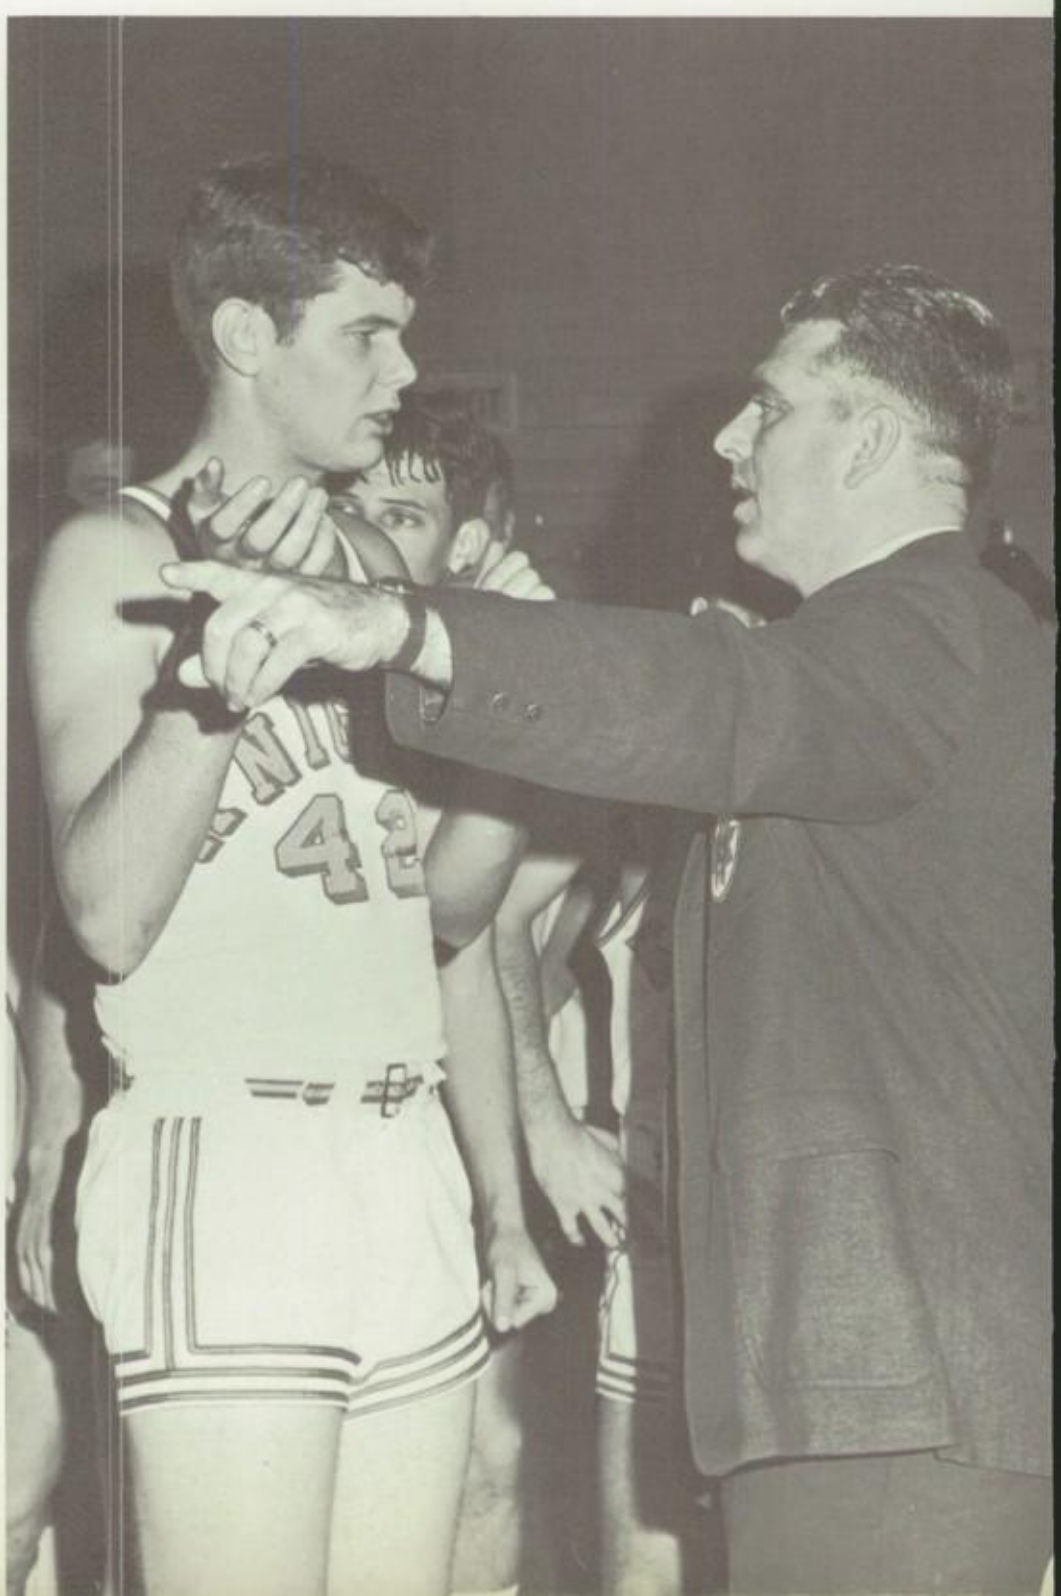
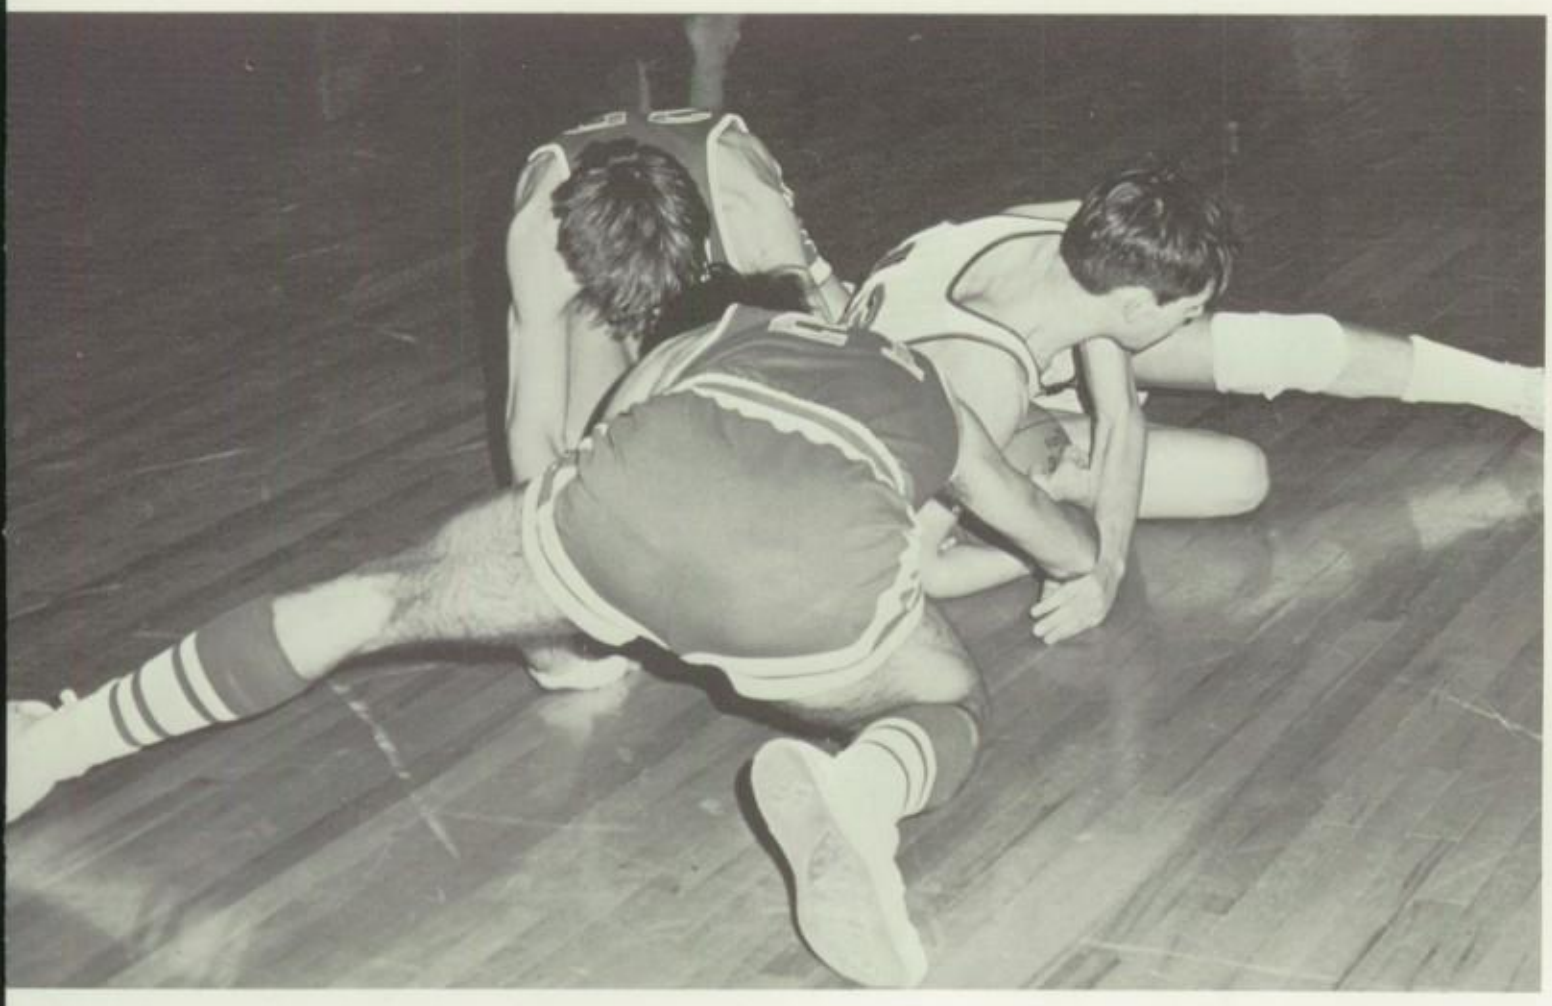
"WHO let the air out of the ball?" . . . wonders Bruce Scott as he drives past Enid's Tim Wright to score two points in the Knights' 65-53 win over the Plainsmen. .

RIGORS of the game are reflected by Coach Don Van Pool, who upped his career won-loss record to 206-84 in '68-'69. ABOVE: COACH VAN POOL gives Bruce Scott a pointer on how to run the offense. RIGHT: "Don't forget to cover the baseline," shouts the volatile coach to his Varsity charges.





FIRST down ... Sophomore Tony Robinson scrambles for a loose ball in the Knight's 63-53 conquest of Enid.

Scrap, Hustle, Drive, Grit — Code of Knightland's Champions

However, behind Mitchell's 28 points, the Knights celebrated "Bastille Day" early, rallying for a 56-36 win.

In the game-of-the-week, the balanced Northwest attack handed Douglass its first home court loss in three years 64-62. Four starters scored in double figures.

Resembling a German tank division, the cagers "blitzed" outmanned John Marshall 65-42. Mitchell and junior Bruce Scott combined for 18 and 13 points, respectively, to lead all scorers.

Arch-rival Midwest City literally "froze" against the taller Knights, but its stalling tactics failed by a 45-33 margin. Mitchell held the Bombers' Larry Trimble, the conference leading scorer, to five points while scoring 22 himself.

Coach Don Van Pool's charges survived Grant's Clay Hoster to edge the Generals 56-53. Hoster, a 6' 3" shooting artist, pumped in 24 points in a losing effort.

A long-awaited trip to Tulsa for the invitational "Tournament of Champions" followed the Grant game. The Knights claimed another coveted trophy, downing Mountain View 76-58, Ringwood 44-39, and No. 2 ranked Tulsa Central 69-50.

The first round of the Tournament offered an interesting match between the state's two tallest players, Northwest's Mitchell and Mountain View's 6' 11" Norman Russell.

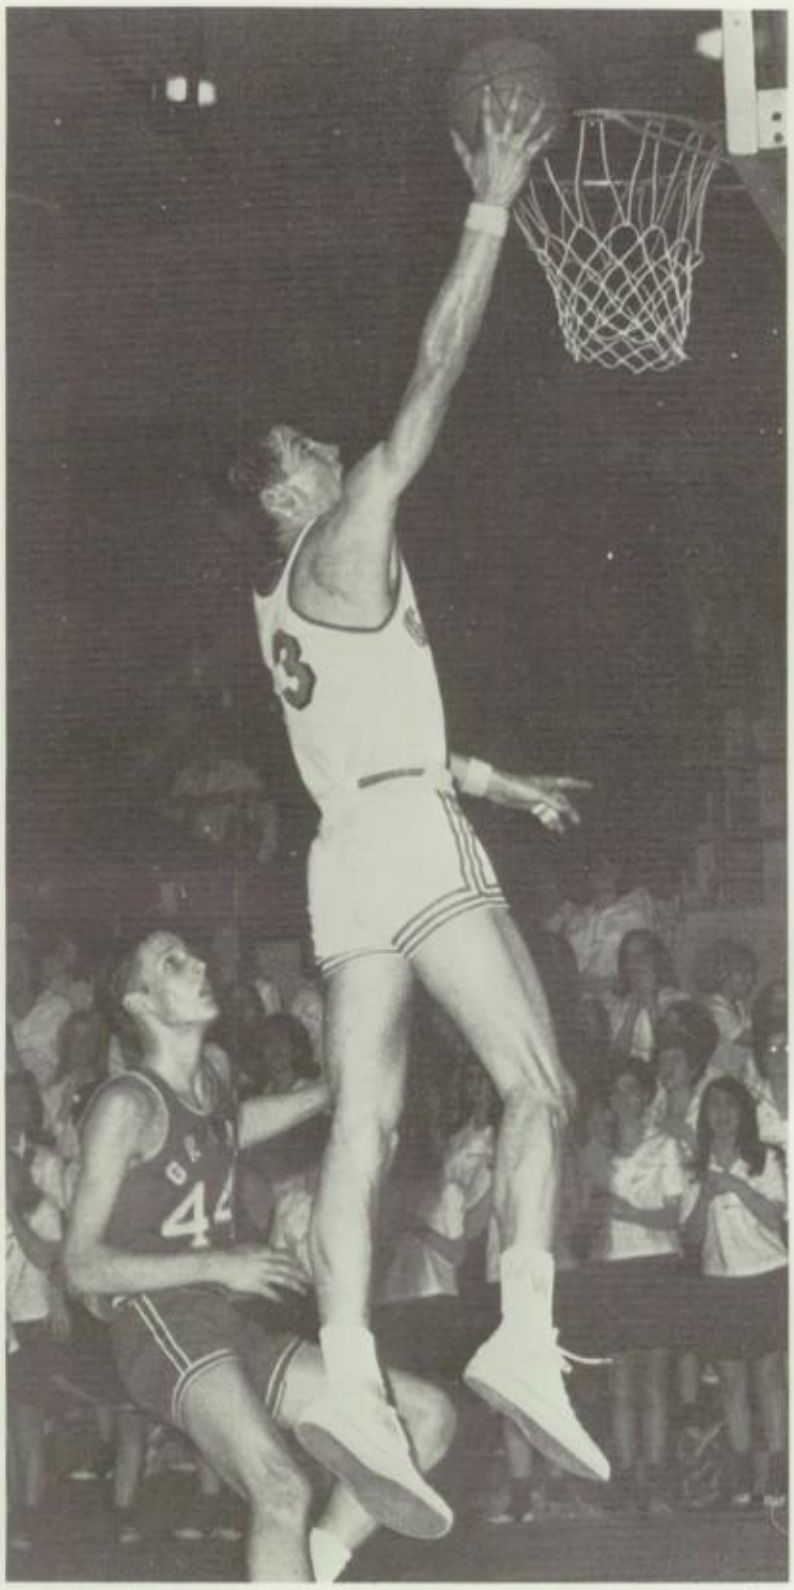
Returning from the bright lights of Tulsa, the cagers won return matches with Grant 68-58, Shawnee 37-26, John Marshall 80-45, Capitol Hill 75-53, and Putnam City 60-49. The 37-26 triumph over Shawnee marked Coach Van Pool's 200th career coaching win.

Any hope for a perfect season was ruined when Douglass nipped Northwest 67-65. The Trojan win ended the Knights' 28-game winning streak.

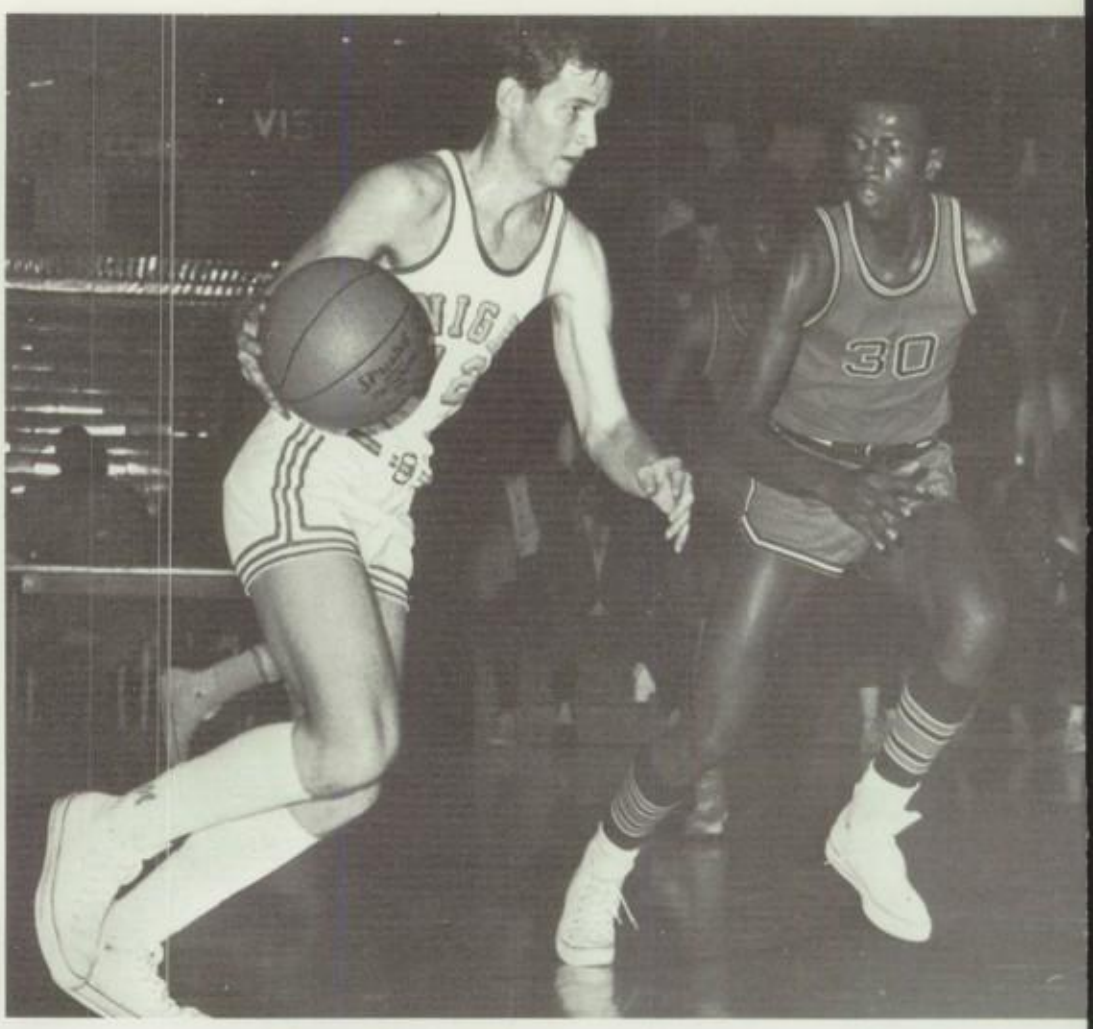
Rebounding from this loss, the b-ballers went on to decision Midwest City 45-42, Enid 63-53, and Southeast 73-60. In the last two victories, the towering Mitchell set two new school records.

His 23 point outburst against Enid boosted his career total over the 1000 point mark. The following game, he threatened to beat Southeast singlehandedly, scoring 49 points. This scoring binge eclipsed Larry Gatewood's record of 42 set in 1966.

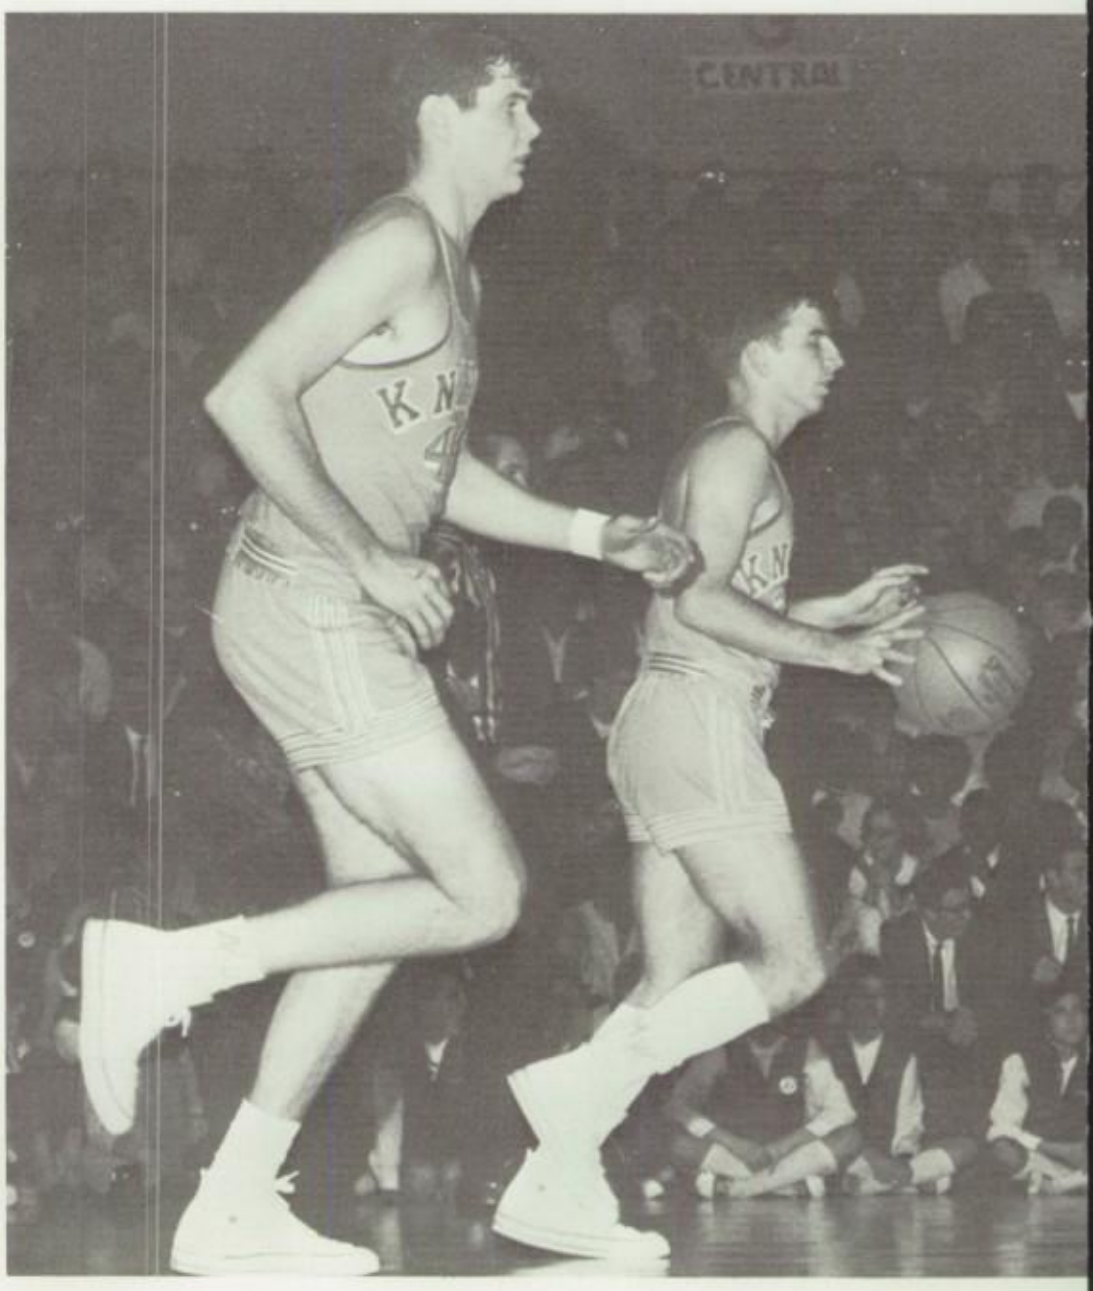
AN altitude record is set by Steve Mitchell as he scores two points despite a block by Midwest City's stellar guard Larry Trimble, varsity captain.



GRANT'S Clay Hoster (44) questions how to stop Ron Raunborg's layup in Northwest's 68-58 win over the Generals.



DRIBBLING out of trouble, Bruce Scott speeds past Donald England of Douglass. The Trojan defeated Northwest 67-65 for the Knights' only conference loss of the season.



"THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT" ... is evidenced by cagers Ben Byers and John Cheatham as they march down the court in the finals of the Tulsa Memorial Tournament of Champions

Coach Van Pool Posts 200th Career Win

Talented sophomores provided most of the scoring punch as Coach Clay Davis' B-squad posted a 12-4 season record.

Sophomores Jerry Waugh, Jim Hill, and Tony Robinson teamed with junior Skip Bayless to lead the Junior Varsity. Waugh and Hill were the only players to score in double figures, averaging 15.2 and 11.8 points, respectively.

Highlight of the year was the team's 47-40 win over Douglass. This victory avenged last year's loss to the Trojans which ended a 35-game home court winning streak.

Under the direction of Coach Tom Erwin, the C-squad suffered through a 3-13 campaign. Lack of heighth and inexperience troubled the cagers throughout the season.

An intense rivalry with Northwest's feeder school, Taft Jr. High, was created when the freshman squad defeated the Royals 40-39.

The Little Knights' overtime win marked the first meeting between the two schools. Steve Makintubee hit a pressure-packed freethrow with no time remaining in the overtime to give Northwest its victory.

A. C. Copeland, Steve McNeill, Rod Cranford, Bart Thompson, and Makintubee comprised the starting five for the C-squad.

Copeland and Makintubee were consistent scorers for the C-squad, with Copeland being the tallest man on the team at 5' 11".

Inexperience, Injuries Hamper Grapplers

A combination of "The Good, The Bad and The Ugly" marked Coach Leonard Marcotte's fourteenth season as wrestling mentor at Northwest.

Plagued by inexperience and injuries, the grapplers posted a 5-6 dual record and placed seventh in the Mid-State tournament. Emphasis was necessarily placed on youth when injuries crippled seniors Pat Rattan and Mark McGinley.

On the brighter side, the Knights flattened five opponents, including Class AA wrestling power Classen. Underclassmen with experience in ten of the eleven weight brackets will return to bolster next year's squad.

Senior Jim Riggall, at 145 pounds, claimed third place individually in the City tournament and led the team in scoring with 13 wins, 6 losses, and 6 pins for 41 points. Another senior, Ron Matlock at 168 pounds, was second in team totals with 5 wins, 8 losses and 2 pins for 19 points.

Other leading scorers for the grapplers were Dennis Box, Barry Geller, and Mark Ackerman, totaling 15 points apiece, Gary Barker and Steve Veatch, 14 points, and Tom Peek, who compiled 12 points.

For the first time in school history no Northwest wrestler qualified for the state meet. However, Riggall claimed the AAU title April 19.

In regional competition Coach Marcotte entered underclassmen so they could gain experience for next year.

Wrestlers, Tankers Face Revamping Course

ONE-TENTH of a second makes the crucial difference in the 400-yard freestyle relay, consisting of Bill Lytle, Tom Rueb, Charlie Turpin, and Henry Bockus, at the John Marshall dual meet.

Under the direction of new Head Coach John Goss, Northwest swimmers finished 4-4 in dual meet competition, fourth in the Mid-State Conference, and second in the City Meet.

In the Mid-State Meet Knight swimmers captured only one conference title to finish fourth. Team Captain Marty Schnetzler finished first in the 200-yard freestyle.

Silver medals in the conference meet were awarded to Bob Trosper in diving and Charles Crittenden in the 100-yard breaststroke. Third place finishers were Jack Parsons, diving, and Schnetzler, 400-yard free style.

Underclassmen dominated the Knights' second place finish in the City Meet. Crittenden, a freshman, won the 100-yard breaststroke and Trosper, a sophomore, won the diving competition.

Other medal winners were Parsons, second, 200-yard freestyle and 400-yard freestyle; Henry Bockus, third, 50-yard freestyle; Crittenden third, 200-yard individual medley; the freestyle relay, second; and the medley relay, third.

Other finishers for Northwest were Parsons, fourth, diving and Crittenden, fifth 100-yard breaststroke.

State competition was highlighted by Trosper's second place finish in diving.

Non-Varsity Athletes Vie for Match Titles

To promote good sportsmanship and competition between Northwest's non-varsity athletes, the intramural committee of Student Council provided a wide variety of tournaments. Chairman of this year's activities was senior John Abney.

Kicking off early in January, competition began with football, followed by basketball, wrestling, and bowling.

Six teams fought for the football title with The Grain Juice Terrors, captained by senior Griff Graham, capturing first place. They defeated The Spirit of '76, 40-6, and Johnson's Jockeys, 26-6.

The Company reached the finals by edging the BH'ers 6-0, and in a long sudden-death play-off, stopped the Kingsmen 6-0.

The spring season featured competitive tournaments in ping pong, volleyball, softball, tennis, and track. After a year's absence, the yo-yo tourney was brought back into the program by the committee.

Freshmen View NW as 'Groovy'

It was a new, wide, wonderful world for the 794 freshmen entering Knightland September 3.

First glimpse of the "big operation" at Northwest was provided on Orientation Day, August 29, when the Student Council officers presented a program designed to inform freshmen about the school activity program.

Brief talks by representatives from school organizations were given in assembly in the auditorium followed by a tour of the building conducted by Courtesy Club girls.

Largest percentage of freshmen in school history (57 per cent) went to the polls to cast ballots for class officers. They used machines for the first time.

D.A.T.'s (Differential Aptitude Tests) were administered in September to all ninth graders. Results were used by counselors in advising future curriculum choices.

Freshmen quickly made their mark in all facets of school life. Music, sports, speech, and art departments benefited from the array of class talent.

AMPAIGN FEVER reaches a peak in Mrs. Clara Luper's history class with Lala ife and Keith Mott on the phone checking headquarters. Before the presidential election November 5, class members assumed important posts in campaigning for their favorite political parties.

Heralds Hail

The 802 members of the sophomore class rejoiced in their new status as full-fledged Heralds and sighed with relief because they were no longer the youngest class.

After evaluation of STEP test profiles (Sequential Test of Educational Progress), sophomores conferred seriously with counselors concerning curriculum and career choices.

January 27 was tenth grade Orientation Day. Enrollment for next year was discussed with counselors in assembly.

Soon after, schedule cards were distributed and sophs pre-enrolled earlier than ever before.

For the second straight year, Joanne Bateman and Mark Harvey were chosen Top Teens by their classmates. The annual contest was sponsored by The Shield.

There was no campaign nor runoff; results were announced in the newspaper.

The first semester Knights' Honor Roll, one of Northwest's highest distinction, listed 93 tenth graders on its roster.

Proud of its first two years of achievements, the class of 1971 looked forward to two more eventful years in Knightland.

EXTRA CHAIRS are not needed for entertaining when one owns a bathtub, agree top teens, Mark Harvey and Joanna Bateman, as they relax with Harvey's puppy.

DESIGNING and constructing Oriental props for junior-senior prom decorations occupy all the spare time of Junior Class officers: (seated) Patty Tuel, vice president; Diane Burton, treasurer; (standing) Susan Long, sergeant at arms; Doug Hall, president; and Cindy Bailey, secretary.

Squires Relish 'Upperclass'

Signifying the obligations descending to the Squires as a last step toward Knighthood, the sword was passed from the senior class president, Craig Maurer, to the junior class president, Doug Hall, in the traditional end-of-school ceremony.

Already juniors have been selected for key positions next year in Northwest's 49 clubs and organizations. Members of the class will head Student Council, publications, and other groups vital to the total school program.

College loomed bigger on the horizon as counselors checked juniors' credits for graduation and stressed long-range planing in scheduling for the second year.

Highlights of second semester were the receiving of long-awaited class rings and the planning that went into the production of the junior-senior prom.

An Oriental atmosphere pervaded the ballroom at the Skirvin Hotel, where the dance was held for the second year. Japanese greetings and goodbye, "Aisatsu" and "Sayonara," were the theme for the decorative motif of the annual ball.

POSTING prom committee lists is Miss Liz Lippman, sponsor in charge of dance arrangements.

"HI, guys!" Cheryl McDonald greets friends, while Bob Gary turns in their order at The Street after a ball game. The couple was elected Top Teens by classmates in the annual Shield contest.

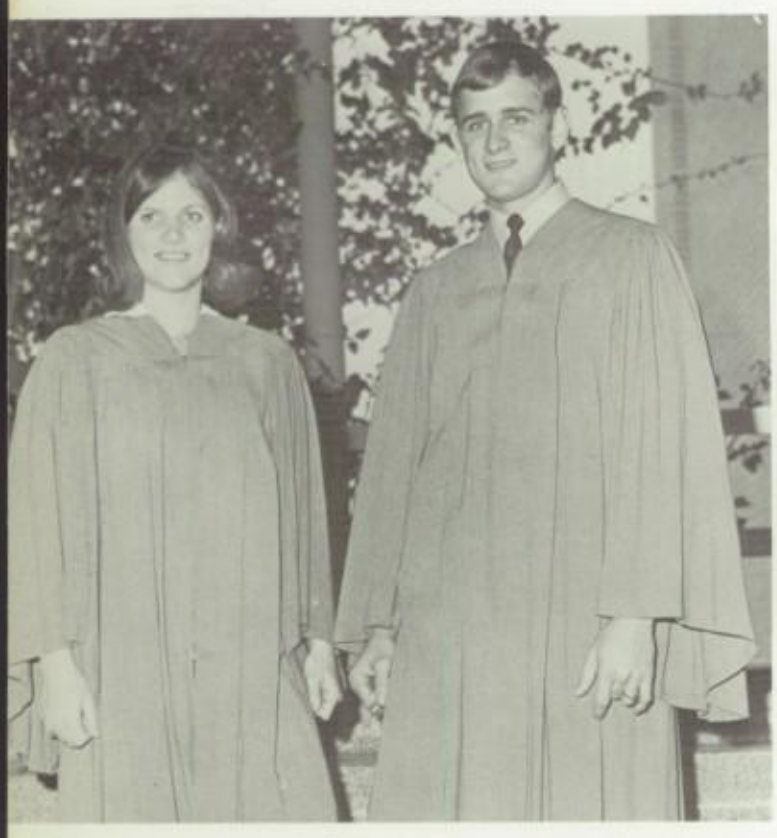
Squires See Rings as Symbols of Seniority

AT LAST! Juniors Ronnie Raunborg, Marilee Holdridge, Doug Hall, and Jeanne Haggard, sigh as they get their first glimpse of class rings.

"WITH TALENT like this, our Senior Assembly should be a smash!" Leon Meyers, class vice president, tells Craig Maurer, president. Auditioning for parts in the show are (on stage) Cheryl Wilson, secretary; Susie Bevins, treasurer; and Connie Geist, sergeant at arms.

'We'll Never Forget Northwest, Because . .'



ON THEIR WAY to Senior Assembly are Craig Maurer and Cathy McGregor. They were elected Top Teens for the fourth straight year by their classmates.

The Class of '69 will always remember their 720 Days of the Knights—the string of sports champions, traditional excellence of Cryslurs, dramatists, cheerleaders, majorettes, prize winning publications and debaters.

Each event and tradition throughout the year took on a little more meaning and significance for the 705 members of the senior class.

The final football game, the last prom, pep club banquets—all stirred sentimental feelings for the soon-to-be graduates.

Friendships of long standing grew closer as conversation drifted inevitably to plans for college and the future, and everybody was just a little scared.

The draft, Vietnam War, generation gap, stories of campus riots, and the fashionable practice of "rebelling against the establishment" were news headliners which prompted seniors to become uneasy about how they will "fit in" to the pattern of modern life.

But the past four years are most real. Who will ever forget the famous freshman picnic, when Craig Maurer, class president, and five other class members, went to the hospital following an accident on a ride at Springlake Amusement Park?

At the halfway mark, this class experienced a change in school administration and viewed the two new young principals as "neat and groovy."

The last two months of school were filled with memorable events—awards assemblies, final exams, senior assembly, senior sermon at the First Presbyterian Church, Round Table coronation, and the finale, senior breakfast and Commencement exercises at Taft Stadium May 29.

After tryouts were held, Sue Jarrett, Donna Cordell, and Terry Ham were chosen speakers for Commencement.

WASN'T IT GREAT? Terry Green's bedroom bulletin board and her scrapbooks are filled with treasured mementos of the four years she has spent at Northwest.

Tickets, cards, invitations
Everyone in school was there,
News clips, ribbons, medals,

Seniors

We handle them with care
Admits, snapshots,
scribbled notes
Tomorrow is already here,
Corsages, drops, friendship rings—
Senior memories we hold dear.

REMINDER of the '68 prom, when her class hosted seniors, is the withered corsage Terry Green keeps in her collection of memorable occasions.

The Bright Days . . .

(Antony and Cleopatra)

Shadows fall on tracks, platforms, and stages
as weary runners cross the finish line
Drawing curtains for the last time, stage hands watch as graduates play out the scene of carefree high school days with friends and advisers,
Bidding fond farewells and anticipating even greater challenge,
Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors,
Also happy to be a part of traditions and rivalries,
Preparing to perpetuate the excellence and superiority
so characteristic of all the Days of the Knights.

good Knight!

TAKING A SHORTCUT to class across the patio provides a pleasant interlude for friends to visit.

THE LAST MILE—Seniors file out the front door for their final march to Commencement in Taft Stadium.

PRODUCTION NOTES: The 1969 Round Table was printed on 80 lb. Florentine Embossed Matte Finish paper in Bodoni Bold and Spartan type. There are 4,729 black and white photographs and 6 color prints arranged within the 9 by 12 inch page. Consisting of 264 pages, the book is bound together in a 160 point Binders Board.

The Dupont Fabrikoid cover is white with a thin purple overtone in gorilla grain texture. The Knight, title, date, and backbone information are embossed on the cover surface. Division pages feature pictures printed in purple and black duotone. The Taylor Publishing Company, located in Dallas, Texas, printed 2560 copies of the '69 Round Table.

Knights Mark End of '68-69 Days; Staff Salutes Aides in Reflections

Because the "Days of the Knights'" means different things to different people, we have tried to capture and portray the myriad moods and experiences which have touched the lives of Northwest's 3,050 students and 138 staff members.

Some students mark for permanence the friendships they've formed here.

Others remember best the challenges faced in classrooms, the excitement of sports events, the stimulation of intellectual and cultural achievements, the joy of creativity, or the quiet pride in "just belonging" to this remarkable student body.

Special events and people stand out in retrospect according to individual interests and tastes.

To present this comprehensive view of Knightland, we relied upon numerous people for assistance.

Although there are far too many people to recognize each individually, we would especially like to thank the student body who made this book possible, the faculty, and Principal Jim Johnson, who cooperated so patiently.

We are grateful for the advice of Mrs. Charlotte Eaker, journalism instructor, Mr. Ron Millican, assistant principal who served as business adviser, and especially we wish to express our appreciation to Mrs. Elizabeth Burdette, our adviser.

Also, acknowledgements are due the following professionals: Mrs. Lu Carroll, consultant from the Taylor Publishing Co; Mrs. Walter Sutton, Roger Myers Studio; Wagner Studio for class portraits; Curtis Studio, royalty pictures.

A twenty-page summer supplement which includes awards, spring sports, prom and graduation events will be mailed to purchasers in mid-summer.
